Rhodes Bans Discrimination In All State Operations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes issued an "executive code for fair practices" today to ban racial discrimination in state operations.

The proclamation conforms to verbal instructions given the cabinet last Jan. 1, the governor told a news conference.

"I call upon all the people of Ohio to join with me in making these goals possible," Rhodes said.

He asserted that "racial unrest puts a challenge for intelligent action upon every public official."

"The patience of people denied many of their constitutional rights for over 100 years has been boundless. Their impatience now is understandable."

"The result of continued inaction by government is causing responsible leadership to be threatened."

Asked if the Civil Rights Commission had approved the code, Rhodes reiterated that it conformed to his Jan. 15 instruction. He recalled saying during his recent Washington visit with President Kennedy and other governors that "the most important thing we can do for the Negro is gainful employment for him."

On other subjects, Rhodes said the state would pay voluntary Bureau of Unemployment Compensation workers if the federal government did not.

BUC Administrator Wilford P. Dudley said the Labor Department ran out of funds to pay some 3,000 employees this week. He asked them to volunteer for work in the hope of getting paid later.

Dudley estimated a 95 per cent volunteer turnout, preventing a delay in mailing out jobless benefit checks.

Liquor Director Donald Cook said he was not prepared to say what effect pending legislation to authorize a higher state markup might have on Ohio's monopoly business. "We never said we would increase prices," he asserted.

Cook sought to permit the Liquor Department to increase the limit on markup on liquor prices from 30 to 35 per cent in an amendment to the House bill to abolish self serve stores.

State Finance Director Richard L. Krabach had pointed out that he was seeking only permission to allow the increase and that it was not contemplated immediately, only possibly during the next two years, if necessary.

Representatives of the retail liquor dealers, hotels and restaurants, who maintained they would be caught in a "price squeeze" by a markup increase came in with an amendment that would throw all of the price hike on the man who buys his liquor for home consumption.

The amendment, approved by the committee, would allow a permit holder a discount on his purchases of liquor equal to each one per cent increase over the present 30 per cent ceiling in the markup of liquor prices. A permit holder now gets a 10 per cent discount.

In other words, if the markup is hiked to 31 per cent, a permit holder would get 11 per cent discount, etc. If the markup went to 35 per cent the permit holder would get a 15 per cent discount.

If approved by the Senate, the amended bill could die for want of agreement by the House to the Senate amendment.

Boy, 5, Proves To Be Fine Beekeeper

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Brian Dieckhoner is only 5 and perhaps too young to know about bees and bees. But he does know plenty about bees.

Brian dived into a beehive Monday without a protective net and came up with an armful of honeycomb, bees and all. He did it to prove his grandfather's contention that Brian is Greater Cleveland's youngest beekeeper.

Brian has been helping grandpa Otto Kosman run his 200-hive bee operation in suburban Middleburg Heights since he was 4. Kosman was county bee inspector until he resigned a few weeks ago.

Brian admits to having been stung a couple of times when he first started in the bee business. Now he has the immunity that comes with fearlessness, according to Kosman, a beekeeper for 40 years.

"Bees won't attack except in defense of their lives or their hives," explained the grandfather. "People get in trouble when they start swinging."

Kosman admitted, however, that bees don't always follow the book. Their nerves get on edge, he said, when they see their food supply fall from frost and drought. This is a highly nervous year in bee circles, he added.

Some observers, noting the timing and plans to fill the Hotel Sheraton-Cleveland ballroom with notables, including Young's fellow senators from Washington, feel the event may be a kickoff for the 74-year-old senator's campaign for re-election.

U.S. SET TO DEFEND EUROPE

$250 Million School Issue OK'd for Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans will vote next Nov. 5 on a proposal to issue another $250 million in bonds to finance buildings, especially for higher education, which both political parties say are desperately needed.

The Senate completed the necessary legislative action Monday night to place the issue on the ballot as the legislature began its 25th—and probably last—week of its regular session.

Voter approval of the bond issue, which has the support of Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration, would increase to more than $1 billion the amount of bonds Ohioans have authorized since the end of World War II.

The new bond issue would be financed by a continuation of a penny-a-pack cigarette tax first authorized by the voters in 1935 to pay for bonds covering a state building program.

In the same Senate floor session, a bill was killed which would have permitted state universities to require entrance exams of Ohio high-school graduates seeking admission to state universities who were in the lower half of their high school classes. Under law, Ohio's state universities are required to admit any graduate of an accredited Ohio high school.

Senate Education Committee Chairman Ross Pepple, R-Allen, battled vainly in favor of the bill which was beaten by bipartisan opposition.

The bill lost 13-17 with 17 favorable votes needed for passage. The Senate, with six dissenting Democratic votes, went along with House amendments to a bill to cut the 1959-adopted workmen's compensation bill down to Republican size and increase the employers' share of administration costs to 90 per cent of the total.

Also sweeping through the Senate with only five Democratic opponents was a House-approved bill to permit the Natural Resources Department to finance state parks and facilities through the issuance of revenue bonds—bonds which do not pledge the full faith and credit of the state, but which pledge only the revenue from the affected improvement.

The House defeated a Senate-approved bill to permit duck hunting, in season, on Sundays.

Hearing Due In Slaying of Negro Leader

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A preliminary hearing will be held today in city court on the murder charge against Byron De La Beckwith, 42, of Greenwood accused of assassinating a Negro integration leader.

The routine hearing deals only with whether there is probable cause to hold Beckwith in the case.

Dist. Atty. Bill Waller said he would ask that Beckwith be held without bond until the grand jury, which convenes July 1, hears the charge.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune, in a dispatch from its correspondent in Jackson, said it learned Beckwith would be sent to the state mental hospital at Whitfield for psychiatric tests if he is indicted by the grand jury next week.

The paper reported sources said arrangements had already been made with the hospital in case of indictment, and the mental tests may require as long as two months.

Waller said he would seek the death penalty against Beckwith. Beckwith was accused of ambushing Medgar W. Evers in Jackson on June 12 after Evers drove up to his home.

South Korea Landslides Blamed for 116 Deaths

PUSAN, South Korea (AP)—At least 116 persons were believed killed in four landslides which rocked the southern coast of Korea Monday night and today.

Ninety-four Koreans were reported killed today by a landslide in a village on Koje Island.

Another 22 perished in three smaller slides Monday night in Pusan and nearby Kimhai County, police said.

The landslide followed five inches of rain.

Pentagon Clears 3 Airmen Involved In Britain's Sex-Security Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department cleared three U.S. airmen today of any involvement in Britain's sex-and-security scandal and sent them back to duty in England.

"Investigation has not given any indication whatsoever of any security violation," Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, told a news conference.

"No military information was ever solicited from these men nor was any ever furnished by them."

The Pentagon's chief spokesman—still refusing to identify the men—said "they have been returned to their unit in England."

He said the return was today.

The three, all below commissioned rank, were brought here from Britain last Friday for questioning about rumors connecting them with British party girl Christine Keeler.

Summarizing the results of the investigation, Sylvester said none of the men was involved directly or indirectly in any way. One had never met Miss Keeler, central figure in a scandal which resulted in the resignation of British War Minister John Profumo and the arrest on morals charges of Dr. Stephen Ward, a fashionable London osteopath and two of the men casually met a girl named Christine through mutual acquaintances in London.

Until the publicity broke, Sylvester said, the airmen had never heard of Capt. Eugene Ivanov, former Soviet naval attaché in London and described as one of Miss Keeler's lovers.

In disclosing Monday that the airmen had been brought to this country, Sylvester emphasized that the Defense Department's concern was with security aspects.

Other sources said "there is not a bit of evidence" to tie Capt. Thomas Murphy into the case. Murphy has been naval attaché in London and newspapers recently published a photograph of Mrs. Murphy kissing Ivanov at a party in December 1961. Mrs. Murphy has explained that this was part of a traditional ceremony involving an Elizabethan "kissing cup" and said "I wasn't kissing him; he was kissing me."

Murphy is being transferred to Washington next month. The U.S. embassy has said the Navy four-star's transfer had nothing to do with the picture and that he had received his orders before the photograph was disclosed.

On the questioning of the airmen, Sylvester said the first knowledge the Defense Department received that any U.S. military personnel might be involved with Miss Keeler came from newspaper reports a week ago last Saturday.

Subsequently, he said, the department received direct reports giving names of U.S. personnel.

The British newspaper reports had said two airmen had been recalled for questioning and named them as Charles Lee Wright of Mount Vernon, Ill., and Sgt. George Hopkins of Belaire, Ohio.

Without confirming that these were two of the men being questioned, the Pentagon said that a Sgt. Charles Lee Wright of Mount Vernon, Ill., and a T. Sgt. George Hopkins of Belaire, Ohio, were listed as serving with the 3rd Air Force in South Ruislip.

Khrush To Aid East Germany

Quick Visit To Offset Influence by Kennedy

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev will make a hurriedly scheduled visit to East Germany this weekend in an obvious attempt to counter some of the effect of President Kennedy's tour of West Germany.

The announcement early today of Khrushchev's trip called it a friendly visit in connection with the 70th birthday Sunday of Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's Communist leader.

Western quarters in Moscow viewed Khrushchev's plans as an effort to counterweight Kennedy's visit and boost East German morale, always the low point in the Soviet bloc of friendship of the German and American people during the visit of President Kennedy, apparently made it necessary to freshen up Ulbricht's damaged prestige on somewhat short notice," said Karl Guenther von Hase, West German press chief.

The announcement of Khrushchev's trip caught Communist circles in Moscow by surprise. Some called Western news agencies to find out if Kennedy and Khrushchev might be in Berlin at the same time.

There was no indication in Moscow, however, that Khrushchev would arrive in East Germany before Sunday. Kennedy flies from West Berlin to Ireland on Wednesday.

The Soviet news agency Tass in announcing Khrushchev's trip, did not indicate whether Berlin or some other East German city was his destination.

Barry Backers Get Up Steam

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strong pro-Goldwater contingent swung into action today at the start of the national Young Republican convention in the city where the 1964 GOP standard-bearer will be picked.

About 1,000 delegates and members of associated groups were present at the start of the 13th biennial convocation of the Young Republican National Federation.

Many sported badges backing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the only Republican presidential prospect who agreed to speak to the convention.

The two candidates for chairman of the organization during the next two years were to hold a news conference this morning. They are Charles F. McDevitt of Boise, Idaho, and Donald Lukens of Washington, D.C., both described as conservatives.

The platform committee decided Monday to depart from past convention practice by drafting a general statement of Republican basic philosophy, rather than comment on specific issues.

Soviet Spacecraft Explodes In Flight, U.S. Experts Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of several Soviet spacecraft about which the Russians have said nothing apparently exploded into 24 orbiting pieces shortly after launching last fall, the U.S. space agency reports.

In any event, it probably was the biggest bust-up in space since the U.S. Transit 4A satellite vehicle shattered into 186 separate orbiting parts after a launching June 29, 1961.

The hitherto unreported Soviet spraying of orbital debris occurred last Oct. 24. There was no indication in the U.S. report whether the spacecraft could have been manned.

The breaking up of the Soviet satellite was brought to light in a satellite situation report published semi-monthly by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md.

The disclosure clearly was the result of the recently announced change in policy under which NASA is to make public all non-classified space flight data sent to it by the North American Air Defense Command and other agencies. NORAD, among its other duties, tracks foreign objects in orbit.

For many months, virtually all information on Soviet shots, except for data announced by Moscow, was withheld from the NASA reports even though the information had no apparent military significance.

The pieces of the unsuccessful Soviet shot began dropping back to the earth's atmosphere on Oct. 29, five days after launching, NASA said.

The last section left orbit Feb. 26.

The big breakup of the U.S. satellite involved the Navy's launching of the 175-pound Transit 4A navigation satellite with two smaller scientific satellites, Injun 3 and Greb riding piggyback. The two satellites detached themselves from Transit satisfactorily but not from each other, and went into orbit with Transit as the 95-pound Injun satellite. Three of the fragments have fallen out of orbit.

German Peace Corps Started

Kennedy Assistance Helps Launch Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — In launching its "German Development Service" with a helping hand from President Kennedy, West Germany has beaten at least a dozen other nations to the line in putting into operation the first organization modeled after the U.S. Peace Corps.

Kennedy joined in ceremonies at Bonn Monday, along with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Heinrich Lübke, marking the official beginning of the West German version of the Peace Corps.

"The U.S. Peace Corps commenced in 1961," Kennedy said, "and I believe it has given us an opportunity to harness the idealism which is, I think in all free people not merely in the cold field of economic help, but in the human relations which must exist for a happy understanding between people."

The Peace Corps, first proposed by the President during his 1960 campaign, provides trained manpower, teachers, skilled workers and other technicians in the developing nations.

The success of the U.S. Peace Corps prompted organization last January of the International Peace Corps Secretariat to help other nations start their own programs.

Thirteen nations took part in the first international workshop for Peace Corps development here last month and all are planning to follow through with their own versions of the Peace Corps.

West Germany plans to send about 250 young men and women to developing nations this year, most of them to African nations. The number will be increased to 500 in 1964 and 1,000 in 1965.

Ohio Rt. 73 Bridge Damaged by Fire

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A fire Monday night at a bridge on Ohio Rt. 73, a mile south of here, caused damage estimated by the State Highway Department at $30,000 and will result in closing of the structure for about four weeks.

The bridge is between Exello and Trenton.

The steel beam and timber structure spans a small creek and the fire apparently started in debris which had accumulated around it during spring floods.

Firemen battled the blaze for about three hours.

A bridge at the same spot was washed out during the 1937 flood and about 15 years ago another structure was damaged by fire.

Lady Solon Asks Why Senate Pays DAR Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maurine B. Neuberger, D-Ore., has sharply called the Senate to task for footing the bill for printing 1,500 copies of portions of the annual report of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It will be distributed as an official Senate document at a cost the Senate Rules Committee figured at $2,911.17.

Since 1899, the Senate has been doing this, but Sen. Neuberger, no member of the DAR, says she can't understand why.

Kennedy Gives Blunt Reply to DeGaulle Views

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — President Kennedy, in a blunt rebuttal to President Charles de Gaulle's concept of an independent Europe, said today those who doubt the U.S. pledge to defend Western Europe "give aid and comfort" to enemies of the West.

"The United States," Kennedy promised, "will risk its cities to defend yours because we need your freedom to protect ours."

"Those who would doubt our pledge or deny this indivisibility—those who would separate Europe from America or split one ally from another—would only give aid and comfort to the men who make themselves our adversaries and welcome any Western disarray," he said.

Kennedy coupled his criticism with a challenge to all West Europeans—that they work together to become a new and unified world power able to join the United States in "a full give-and-take between equals."

Kennedy's challenge to de Gaulle's ideas came in the major speech of his European tour, prepared for delivery in Frankfurt's Paulskirche. The historic St. Paul's Church is known as the cradle of German democracy. It was the focal point of the abortive 1848 uprising against tyranny.

De Gaulle has contended that the United States would not risk a nuclear holocaust at home to defend Western Europe. He conceives of a Europe free of close ties with the United States.

Without mentioning the French leader by name, Kennedy said doubts about American steadfastness "fly in the face of history."

He told his listeners: "For 18 years the United States has stood its watch for freedom all around the world. The firmness of American will, and the effectiveness of American strength, have been shown in defense of free men and free government, in Asia, in Africa, in the Americas, and, above all, here in Europe."

The President said the United States has undertaken "and sustained with honor" mutual obligations with more than 40 allies.

"We are proud of this record, which more than answers all doubts," he said.

Kennedy's reply to de Gaulle was matched in emphasis by his appeal for greater European unity and increased cooperation with the United States.

"It is not in our interest to try to dominate the European councils of decision," he said. "If that were our objective, we would prefer to see Europe divided and weak, enabling the United States to deal with each fragment individually."

"Instead we look forward to a Europe united and strong—speaking with a common voice—acting with a common will—a world power capable of meeting world problems as a full and equal partner."

The United States, he continued, looks forward "to a united Europe in an Atlantic partnership—an entity of interdependent parts, sharing equally both burdens and decisions."

New Bathyscaphe Descent Planned

AT SEA Aboard USS Fort Snelling (AP)—Further attempts of the Bathyscaphe Trieste to locate the hulk of the submarine Thresher were postponed today for 4 hours because of minor technical problems.

The first dive Monday brought no results.

Capt. Frank Andrews, in charge of the search, said "nothing significant was observed."

He called Monday's 8,400-foot descent by Trieste extremely satisfactory from an operational point of view, but added: "The Trieste went down a little further to the east (was planned)."

The dive area is about 4,000 yards from the fast nuclear submarine Thresher when she sank with the loss of 129 men during a deep test dive last April 10.

The President said the United States has undertaken "and sustained with honor" mutual obligations with more than 40 allies.

"We are proud of this record, which more than answers all doubts," he said.

Kennedy's reply to De Gaulle was matched in emphasis by his appeal for greater European unity and increased cooperation with the United States.

"It is not in our interest to try to dominate the European councils of decision," he said. "If that were our objective, we would prefer to see Europe divided and weak, enabling the United States to deal with each fragment individually."

"Instead we look forward to a Europe united and strong—speaking with a common voice—acting with a common will—a world power capable of meeting world problems as a full and equal partner."

The United States, he continued, looks forward "to a united Europe in an Atlantic partnership—an entity of interdependent parts, sharing equally both burdens and decisions."

New Bathyscaphe Descent Planned

AT SEA Aboard USS Fort Snelling (AP)—Further attempts of the Bathyscaphe Trieste to locate the bulk of the submarine Thresher were postponed today for 4 hours because of minor technical problems.

The first dive Monday brought no results.

Capt. Frank Andrews, in charge of the search, said "nothing significant was observed."

He called Monday's 8,400-foot descent by Trieste extremely satisfactory from an operational point of view, but added: "The Trieste went down a little further to the east than planned."

The dive area is about 4,000 yards from the last known position of the nuclear submarine Thresher when she sank with the loss of 129 men during a deep test dive last April 10.

Khrush To Aid East Germany

Quick Visit To Offset Influence by Kennedy

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev will make a hurriedly scheduled visit to East Germany this weekend in an obvious attempt to counter some of the effect of President Kennedy's tour of West Germany.

The announcement early today of Khrushchev's trip called it a friendly visit in connection with the 70th birthday Sunday of Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's Communist leader.

Western quarters in Moscow viewed Khrushchev's plans as an effort to counterweight Kennedy's visit and boost East German morale, always the low point in the Soviet bloc of friendship of the German and American people during the visit of President Kennedy, apparently made it necessary to freshen up Ulbricht's damaged prestige on somewhat short notice," said Karl Guenther von Hase, West German press chief.

The announcement of Khrushchev's trip caught Communist circles in Moscow by surprise. Some called Western news agencies to find out if Kennedy and Khrushchev might be in Berlin at the same time.

There was no indication in Moscow, however, that Khrushchev would arrive in East Germany before Sunday. Kennedy flies from West Berlin to Ireland on Wednesday.

The Soviet news agency Tass in announcing Khrushchev's trip, did not indicate whether Berlin or some other East German city was his destination.

Barry Backers Get Up Steam

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strong pro-Goldwater contingent swung into action today at the start of the national Young Republican convention in the city where the 1964 GOP standard-bearer will be picked.

About 1,000 delegates and members of associated groups were present at the start of the 13th biennial convocation of the Young Republican National Federation.

Many sported badges backing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the only Republican presidential prospect who agreed to speak to the convention.

The two candidates for chairman of the organization during the next two years were to hold a news conference this morning. They are Charles F. McDevitt of Boise, Idaho, and Donald Lukens of Washington, D.C., both described as conservatives.

The platform committee decided Monday to depart from past convention practice by drafting a general statement of Republican basic philosophy, rather than comment on specific issues.

Kenya Changeover Set

LONDON (AP) — Britain has agreed to give Kenya its independence by 1964, informed sources reported. A constitutional conference will be held this year to arrange transfer of power.

Soviet Spacecraft Explodes In Flight, U.S. Experts Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of several Soviet spacecraft about which the Russians have said nothing apparently exploded into 24 orbiting pieces shortly after launching last fall, the U.S. space agency reports.

In any event, it probably was the biggest bust-up in space since the U.S. Transit 4A satellite vehicle shattered into 186 separate orbiting parts after a launching June 28, 1961.

The hitherto unreported Soviet spraying of orbital debris occurred last Oct. 24. There was no indication in the U.S. report whether the spacecraft could have been manned.

U.S. Woman Freed from Czech Prison

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — Tears flooded the woman's eyes as she left the airliner. "I'm happy, I'm very happy to be back home," she said. Then she ran to embrace her family.

Helen Kozersky, 52, had returned to the United States after more than three years in a Communist Czechoslovakian prison as a spy.

She arrived at New York's Idlewild Airport from Prague Monday night, afraid a son said, "that nobody would be there to meet her, that she would be alone."

She was startled by newsmen and photographers awaiting her, but then spotted her daughter, Helen, 14. "You've grown up!" she cried. The girl is a head taller than her mother.

Meeting her at the airport were her husband John, 55, a factory worker, her sons, Michael, 23, John Jr., 22, and Helen.

Mrs. Kozersky declined to discuss her espionage conviction. Michael said she is to meet with representatives of the State Department about the charges and her imprisonment.

Mrs. Kozersky was pardoned by Czech President Antonin Novotny last Tuesday. Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J., had been active in trying to secure her release after family appeals to him, President Kennedy and the State Department.

She had been arrested May 27, 1960, while visiting her native Czechoslovakia, and sentenced to 25 years imprisonment for spying. The sentence later was reduced to 10 years. Specific charges against her never were made.

New Israeli Premier Gives Security Priority

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Israel's new government will give priority to strengthening national security, Premier-designate Levi Eshkol told Parliament Monday.

Eshkol outlined his policies and presented his 15-member coalition Cabinet to Parliament. He will also serve as defense minister, as Premier David Ben-Gurion did. Parliament is expected to approve the government in a few days.

The Cabinet is virtually the same one that served under Ben-Gurion before his retirement.

German Peace Corps Started

Kennedy Assistance Helps Launch Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)— In launching its "German Development Service" with a helping hand from President Kennedy, West Germany has beaten at least a dozen other nations to the first in putting into operation the first organization modeled after the U.S. Peace Corps.

Kennedy joined in ceremonies at Bonn Monday, along with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Heinrich Lübke, marking the official beginning of the West German version of the Peace Corps.

"The U.S. Peace Corps commenced in 1961," Kennedy said, "and I believe it has given us an opportunity to harness the idealism which is, I think in all free people not merely in the cold field of economic help, but in the human relations which must exist for a happy understanding between people."

The Peace Corps, first proposed by the President during his 1960 campaign, provides trained manpower, teachers, skilled workers and other technicians in the developing nations.

The success of the U.S. Peace Corps prompted organization last January of the International Peace Corps Secretariat to help other nations start their own programs.

Thirteen nations took part in the first international workshop for Peace Corps development here last month and all are planning to follow through with their own versions of the Peace Corps.

West Germany plans to send about 250 young men and women to developing nations this year, most of them to African nations. The number will be increased to 500 in 1964 and 1,000 in 1965.

Ohio Rt. 73 Bridge Damaged by Fire

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A fire Monday night at a bridge on Ohio 73, a mile south of here, caused damage estimated by the State Highway Department at $30,000 and will result in closing of the structure for about four weeks.

The bridge is between Excelesio and Trenton.

The steel beam and timber structure spans a small creek and the fire apparently started in debris which had accumulated around it during spring floods.

Firemen battled the blaze for about three hours.

A bridge at the same spot was washed out during the 1937 flood and about 15 years ago another structure was damaged by fire.

Lady Solon Asks Why Senate Pays DAR Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maurine B. Neuberger, D-Ore., has sharply called the Senate to task for footling the bill for printing 1,500 copies of portions of the annual report of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It will be distributed as an official Senate document at a cost the Senate Rules Committee figured at $2,911.17.

Since 1899, the Senate has been doing this, but Sen. Neuberger, no member of the DAR, says she can't understand why.

A petition calling for improvements of a ditch in Harrison Twp. was received yesterday by the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners.

The proposed project, known as Hughes Ditch, involves approximately 13 land owners. Appropriate clearing, grubbing, cleaning and leveling were among points listed in the petition.

The petition was signed by Donald P. Courtwright, Grant Harden, Milton Renick and Phil Smith.

The Commission set July 18 as the date to make a personal inspection of the ditch area. A first hearing has been scheduled for Aug. 8.

One of the structures is bridge No. 1 spanning Plum Run on Road No. 103 in Wayne Twp. The other is Bridge No. 11 on Road No. 66, over Hargus Creek, in Washington Twp.

The Commission approved an agreement for renewal with Fayette Memorial Hospital in Washington, C. H. for services to indigent Pickaway County residents eligible for county medical aid. The cost was set at $26 per day per patient.

Renewal of an insurance policy for fire, lightning and extended insurance at the County Children's home was approved. The agreement was made with the local Lawrence Johnson Agency.

Approval also was granted for the purchase of a Ford 750 truck for the County Engineer's Department. The vehicle will be obtained from Kenny Hannan Ford, N. Court St.

Cold War Gls To Benefit in New Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee approved today a bill to give education and home loan benefits to veterans discharged since Jan. 31, 1955.

Known as the "Cold War GI Bill," the measure has been opposed both by the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations. The Veterans Administration has estimated its education costs could exceed $3 billion.

Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., sponsor of the measure, told newsmen "this bill would do more for college education, and to raise our educational levels than anything that could pass."

The bill passed the Senate in 1959 but died in the House. In the preceding Congress, it was cleared by the Labor Committee but was not called up for a vote in the Senate in the face of Kennedy administration opposition.

The bill would make available for veterans, serving since 1955, college and vocational education payments similar to those received by World War II and Korean War servicemen.

The Korean War benefits expired Jan. 31, 1955. The bill approved today would cover the period to July 1, 1967, when the current draft law expires.

Los Angeles Racial Demands Are Heard

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A swelling parade of singing demonstrators marched two miles through downtown Los Angeles Monday to lay integration demands before school officials.

The march was so orderly that Mayor Samuel W. Yorty commended the paraders.

At the end of the demonstration Dr. Christopher L. Taylor, Negro leader of the drive, declared: "They still haven't met our minimal demands."

The marchers asked: Redrawing of school attendance boundaries to achieve classroom integration, transferring Negro pupils from overcrowded schools to under-attended schools whose student bodies are primarily Caucasian, and revising transfer and promotion processes to end alleged discrimination against minority group teachers.

Atlantic City OKd For Dems' Powwow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats will hold their 1964 presidential nominating convention in Atlantic City, N.J., the week of Aug. 24.

That decision announced by the party's national committee today puts the session the width of the continent away from, and six weeks after, the Republican National Convention which opens in San Francisco July 13.

The full Democratic National Committee unanimously accepted a recommendation from its site committee to return the convention to the East Coast for the first time since 1948. That year Harry S. Truman was nominated at Philadelphia.

Coronation Of Pope To Be Outdoors

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican officials went ahead today with plans for an unusual outdoor coronation ceremony for Pope Paul VI.

Unlike recent coronations, Pope Paul's will be in the later afternoon, shorter and completely outdoors, Vatican officials said.

It will be in St. Peter's Square June 30, starting about 6 p.m.

Tens of thousands are expected to jam the square. Delegations from many countries—including a U.S. group led by Chief Justice Earl Warren, and a Brazilian mission possibly led by President Joao Goulart—will have special places.

So will a group of 4,000 iron miners from Bovegno in north Italy. They are coming en masse to attend the coronation of the new Pope who once put on a miner's helmet and descended into their pits to celebrate Mass for them. That was when Pope Paul was Giovanni Battista Montini, archbishop of Milan.

$365,740 Payment Ordered by Judge

CLEVELAND (AP) — A judge has ordered Mervin L. Gold to pay $365,740 to a Chagrin Falls woman who charged the twice-convicted financial manipulator had defrauded her.

Common Pleas Court Judge William J. McDermott made the ruling Monday. Gold was not present in court but his attorney was. Gold appeared last Friday before McDermott on a default call. He testified then that his records had been impounded, that he was not able to prepare a defense, and that he had been busy in trials in federal court.

Mrs. Harvey Busch testified that she had given Gold $290,740 before he fled to Israel in 1961. She said Gold was given the money to invest, particularly in real estate. The judge ordered an additional $75,000 to be paid for "fraud and deceit."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to the White House Monday a bill preserving $4.2 billion of annual federal revenue by extending present corporation income and major excise tax rates.

It was the 10th annual extension; most of the rates were enacted to help finance increased defense spending at the time of the Korean War.

The bill must be signed into law this week to prevent an automatic drop in the rates July 1.

The White House said the bill would be flown to Kennedy in Europe on a courier plane for his signature.

Before passing the bill, the Senate defeated 51-22 an amendment of Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., to eliminate the 5 per cent tax on air travel which brings the treasury $90 million a year.

There were some protests against continuance of the 10 per cent general telephone levy and against some excises not affected by the legislation such as those on cosmetics and jewelry. But no other amendments were offered.

The bill will continue to June 30, 1964, the 52 per cent corporation tax and present excise rates on whisky, beer, wines, cigarettes, autos, auto parts and accessories, air travel and telephone service.

Cold War Gls To Benefit in New Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee approved today a bill to give education and home loan benefits to veterans discharged since Jan. 31, 1955.

Known as the "Cold War GI Bill," the measure has been opposed both by the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations. The Veterans Administration has estimated its education costs could exceed $3 billion.

Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., sponsor of the measure, told newsmen "this bill would do more for college education, and to raise our educational levels than anything that could pass."

The bill passed the Senate in 1959 but died in the House. In the preceding Congress, it was cleared by the Labor Committee but was not called up for a vote in the Senate in the face of Kennedy administration opposition.

The bill would make available for veterans, serving since 1955, college and vocational education payments similar to those received by World War II and Korean War servicemen.

The Korean War benefits expired Jan. 31, 1955. The bill approved today would cover the period to July 1, 1967, when the current draft law expires.

Los Angeles Racial Demands Are Heard

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A swelling parade of singing demonstrators marched two miles through downtown Los Angeles Monday to lay integration demands before school officials.

The march was so orderly that Mayor Samuel W. Yorty commended the paraders.

At the end of the demonstration Dr. Christopher L. Taylor, Negro leader of the drive, declared: "They still haven't met our minimal demands."

The marchers asked: Redrawing of school attendance boundaries to achieve classroom integration, transferring Negro pupils from overcrowded schools to under-attended schools whose student bodies are primarily Caucasian, and revising transfer and promotion processes to end alleged discrimination against minority group teachers.

Atlantic City OKd For Dems' Powwow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats will hold their 1964 presidential nominating convention in Atlantic City, N.J., the week of Aug. 24.

That decision announced by the party's national committee today puts the session the width of the continent away from, and six weeks after, the Republican National Convention which opens in San Francisco July 13.

The full Democratic National Committee unanimously accepted a recommendation from its site committee to return the convention to the East Coast for the first time since 1948. That year Harry S. Truman was nominated at Philadelphia.

Coronation Of Pope To Be Outdoors

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican officials went ahead today with plans for an unusual outdoor coronation ceremony for Pope Paul VI.

Unlike recent coronations, Pope Paul's will be in the later afternoon, shorter and completely outdoors, Vatican officials said.

It will be in St. Peter's Square June 30, starting about 6 p.m.

Tens of thousands are expected to jam the square. Delegations from many countries—including a U.S. group led by Chief Justice Earl Warren, and a Brazilian mission possibly led by President Joao Goulart—will have special places.

So will a group of 4,000 iron miners from Bovegno in north Italy. They are coming en masse to attend the coronation of the new Pope who once put on a miner's helmet and descended into their pits to celebrate Mass for them. That was when Pope Paul was Giovanni Battista Montini, archbishop of Milan.

$365,740 Payment Ordered by Judge

CLEVELAND (AP)—A judge has ordered Mervin L. Gold to pay $365,740 to a Chagrin Falls woman who charged the twice-convicted financial manipulator had defrauded her.

Common Pleas Court Judge William J. McDermott made the ruling Monday. Gold was not present in court but his attorney was. Gold appeared last Friday before McDermott on a default call. He testified that his records had been impounded, that he was not able to prepare a defense, and that he had been busy in trials in federal court.

Mrs. Harvey Busch testified that she had given Gold $290,740 before he fled to Israel in 1961. She said Gold was given the money to invest, particularly in real estate. The judge ordered an additional $75,000 to be paid for "fraud and deceit."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to the White House Monday a bill preserving $4.2 billion of annual federal revenue by extending present corporation income and major excise tax rates.

It was the 10th annual extension; most of the rates were enacted to help finance increased defense spending at the time of the Korean War.

The bill must be signed into law this week to prevent an automatic drop in the rates July 1. The White House said the bill would be flown to Kennedy in Europe on a courier plane for his signature.

Before passing the bill, the Senate defeated 51-22 an amendment of Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., to eliminate the 5 per cent tax on air travel which brings the treasury $90 million a year.

There were some protests against continuance of the 10 per cent general telephone levy and against some excises not affected by the legislation such as those on cosmetics and jewelry. But no other amendments were offered.

The bill will continue to June 30, 1964, the 52 per cent corporation tax and present excise rates on whisky, beer, wines, cigarettes, autos, auto parts and accessories, air travel and telephone service.

Discrimination Denied by Girls State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There is no foundation to assertions that racial discrimination exists in the American Legion Auxiliary sponsored Buckeye Girls State program, its director says.

Mrs. Olin Perry of Akron, director of the annual program, made the denial in reply to assertions by the executive secretary of the Columbus Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Barbee William Durham.

Durham sent a special delivery letter to Mrs. Perry Sunday, contending one Negro girl underwent a "traumatic experience" because of discrimination during the program which just concluded at Capital University in Columbus.

Durham said an Akron father, William R. Miller, complained that his daughter Anita, one of two Anita Millers at Girls State, first was assigned to a room with white girls, then was re-assigned to "an area reserved for Negro girls."

Mrs. Perry said Negro girls do room together, but there is "no area reserved." She added: "They travel the same hallways, use the same showers, go through every phase of the program together." Seventeen Negro girls were among the 1,203 in this year's Girls State, she said. There are no Negro staff members, she said, noting that "no Negro has ever applied."

Taft Delays Decision on Senate Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, says he doesn't expect to decide whether to run for the Senate in 1964 until after Congress goes home, possibly in the fall.

The 46-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, a powerful force in the Republican Party for many years, said he is considering the matter but any formal decision is months away.

Many persons close to Taft say they expect him to seek next year the seat now held by Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

Young, now serving his first term in the Senate, has not announced whether he will seek reelection. He also says he will make up his mind on his course of action later this year.

Young said after he was elected in 1958 that he was only interested in one six-year term. But he apparently no longer feels that way. Close associates say he likes the job and will try to keep it in 1964.

Taft is serving his first two-year term in the House following an eight-year tour of duty in the Ohio Legislature where, in his final two years, he was the Republican floor leader in the House.

Taft said he has made no attempt to check the situation with such Ohio Republican leaders as Ray Bliss, the state GOP chairman, and Rep. Clarence J. Brown, the state's national committeeman.

"I am not going round trying to line up support as a candidate for the Senate with Republican leaders," Taft said. "I have not conferred with them on this I am not likely to until after this session of Congress."

It is expected, however, that both Taft and Young will make up their minds well before the end of this year since the Ohio primary is the first Tuesday in May, 1964.

Taft was elected last fall in a state-wide race, for the at-large House seat, over political unknown Richard Kennedy, the Democratic candidate who failed to win the support of his party because of his divergent civil rights views. Taft won by 1,779,700 votes to $1,158,403—a margin of 621,297.

Taft's margin was far above the 200,000 margin by which former Vice resident Richard M. Nixon carried the state over President Kennedy. Obviously, GOP leaders in Ohio want a strong candidate for the Senate race in an effort to keep the state in the Republican camp in the 1964 presidential election.

California GOP Refuses To Praise Solon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Executive Board of the California Young Republicans considered and rejected a resolution censuring Sen. Thomas N. Kuchel, R-Calif., for a speech the board disliked.

Instead, members introduced a resolution commending the senator—and then voted overwhelmingly against it.

The result, they explained, was to put the group on record as refusing to commend Kuchel.

Kuchel last month attacked political extremists and what he called "fright peddlers."

One resolution asked Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona to accept the Republican nomination for president.

Another endorsed the "liberty amendment," which calls for repeal of the federal income tax.

The board also commended Rep. James Utt, R-Calif., for among other things, demanding that the United States withdraw from the United Nations.

True Verdict on 'Cleopatra' In Hands of Ticket Buyers

By BOB THOMAS
A Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Cleopatra" has finally barged down the aisle and now her fate is in the hands of the ticket buyers.

The movie cost $40 million, Spyros Skouras' job and Eddie Fisher's marriage.

What about the $40 million of 20th Century-Fox's treasury?

Skouras's successor as president, Darryl Zanuck, figures the company will have to get back $62 million before turning a profit. That's a lot of tickets.

Industry insiders figure it's a pretty good bet. The epic got off to a roaring start in its New York and Hollywood openings. Although most critics have been testy about the film's length (four hours plus intermission), the reviews have ranged from raves to general acceptance, with only a few scattered pans.

Cleopatra opens in 48 American cities Wednesday. The first foreign premiere is in London July 26 with other dates being set for Europe and South America. Criticisms of over-length may be abated by the deletion of 22 minutes of running time since the New York premiere.

Those who have seen "Cleopatra" are inevitably barraged with questions: How is it? How does she look? How are the love scenes?

The answers from this reviewer are: It's a crackling good movie; She looks fabulous; the love scenes are convincing.

The burden of the film's publicity fell on Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. It may then be surprising to some to recognize the immense contributions of Joseph Mankiewicz and Rex Harrison to the success of "Cleopatra."

Mankiewicz has skirted most of the chestnuts that have been worked over and over in epics since D. W. Griffith. The bloody battles are held to a minimum, and the grandeur seldom overwhelms the figures in the foreground. Only Cleopatra's entrance to Rome seems overripe, like a Pasadena Rose Parade gone mad.

Harrison is a marvel, every inch an emperor. He commands attention from his entrance to the moment he is hacked up in the Senate. He has been gifted with brilliant dialogue of which Mankiewicz is a master.

Miss Taylor is not to be slighted—as if anyone could. Other actresses might have brought more to the dramatics; her voice is sometimes more little-girl than queenly. But no one—not even the original—could seem more like Cleopatra. Males and females alike will be fascinated by her flawless face and the infinite variety of costumes which she mostly wears.

Richard Burton runs third in the acting honors, and it is no reflection on his plentiful talent. He is stuck with playing a declining Anthony whose greatness as a man and soldier has been dulled by wine and lust.

Also, Burton's moments come in the latter two hours, when it is almost beyond human capacity to maintain attention. Even Cleo's decollege begins to lose its appeal by then.

Taft Delays Decision on Senate Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, says he doesn't expect to decide whether to run for the Senate in 1964 until after Congress goes home, possibly in the fall.

The 46-year-old son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, a powerful force in the Republican Party for many years, said he is considering the matter but any formal decision is months away.

Many persons close to Taft say they expect him to seek next year the seat now held by Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

Young, now serving his first term in the Senate, has not announced whether he will seek reelection. He also says he will make up his mind on his course of action later this year.

Young said after he was elected in 1958 that he was only interested in one six-year term. But he apparently no longer feels that way. Close associates say he likes the job and will try to keep it in 1964.

Taft is serving his first two-year term in the House following an eight-year tour of duty in the Ohio Legislature where, in his final two years, he was the Republican floor leader in the House.

Taft said he has made no attempt to check the situation with such Ohio Republican leaders as Ray Bliss, the state GOP chairman, and Rep. Clarence J. Brown, the state's national committeeman.

"I am not going round trying to line up support as a candidate for the Senate with Republican leaders," Taft said. "I have not conferred with them on this I am not likely to until after this session of Congress."

It is expected, however, that both Taft and Young will make up their minds well before the end of this year since the Ohio primary is the first Tuesday in May, 1964.

Taft was elected last fall in a state-wide race, for the at-large House seat, over political unknown Richard Kennedy, the Democratic candidate who failed to win the support of his party because of his divergent civil rights views. Taft won by 1,779,700 votes to $1,158,403—a margin of 621,297.

Taft's margin was far above the 200,000 margin by which former Vice President Richard M. Nixon carried the state over President Kennedy. Obviously, GOP leaders in Ohio want a strong candidate for the Senate race in an effort to keep the state in the Republican camp in the 1964 presidential election.

California GOP Refuses To Praise Solon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Executive Board of the California Young Republicans considered and rejected a resolution censuring Sen. Thomas N. Kuchel, R-Calif., for a speech the board disliked.

Instead, members introduced a resolution commending the senator—and then voted overwhelmingly against it.

The result, they explained, was to put the group on record as refusing to commend Kuchel.

Kuchel last month attacked political extremists and what he called "fright peddlers."

One resolution asked Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona to accept the Republican nomination for president.

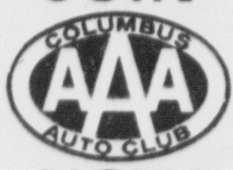

Another endorsed the "liberty amendment," which calls for repeal of the federal income tax. The board also commended Rep. James Utt, R-Calif., for among other things, demanding that the United States withdraw from the United Nations.

True Verdict on 'Cleopatra' In Hands of Ticket Buyers

By BOB THOMAS
A Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Cleopatra" has finally barged down the aisle and now her fate is in the hands of the ticket buyers.

The movie cost $40 million, Spyros Skouras' job and Eddie Fisher's marriage.

What about the $40 million of 20th Century-Fox's treasury?

Skouras' successor as president, Darryl Zanuck, figures the company will have to get back $62 million before turning a profit. That's a lot of tickets.

Industry insiders figure it's a pretty good bet. The epic got off to a roaring start in its New York and Hollywood openings. Although most critics have been testy about the film's length (four hours plus intermission), the reviews have ranged from raves to general acceptance, with only a few scattered pans.

Cleopatra opens in 48 American cities Wednesday. The first foreign premiere is in London July 26 with other dates being set for Europe and South America. Criticisms of over-length may be abated by the deletion of 22 minutes of running time since the New York premiere.

Those who have seen "Cleopatra" are inevitably barraged with questions: How is it? How does she look? How are the love scenes?

The answers from this reviewer are: It's a cracking good movie; She looks fabulous; the love scenes are convincing.

The burden of the film's publicity fell on Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. It may then be surprising to some to recognize the immense contributions of Joseph Mankiewicz and Rex Harrison to the success of "Cleopatra." Mankiewicz has skirted most of the chestnuts that have been worked over and over in epics since D. W. Griffith. The bloody battles are held to a minimum, and the grandeur seldom overwhelms the figures in the foreground. Only Cleopatra's entrance to Rome seems overripe, like a Pasadena Rose Parade gone mad.

Harrison is a marvel, every inch an emperor. He commands attention from his entrance to the moment he is hacked up in the Senate. He has been gifted with brilliant dialogue of which Mankiewicz is a master.

Miss Taylor is not to be slighted—as if anyone could. Other actresses might have brought more to the dramatics; her voice is sometimes more little-girl than queenly. But no one—not even the original—could seem more like Cleopatra. Males and females alike will be fascinated by her flawless face and the infinite variety of costumes which she mostly wears.

Richard Burton runs third in the acting honors, and it is no reflection on his plentiful talent. He is stuck with playing a declining Anthony whose greatness as a man and soldier has been dulled by wine and lust.

Also, Burton's moments come in the latter two hours, when it is almost beyond human capacity to maintain attention. Even Cleo's decollege begins to lose its appeal by then.

Maritime Warning

For years, there have been dire warnings of consequences to the United States if its maritime fleet continues to decline. Not only will the military capability of the U.S. be seriously impaired in the event of a major war, the warnings elaborate, but relegation of the U. S. to second-rate status in merchant shipping will leave the nation's overseas trade markets vulnerable to the whims of other shippers.

Among these whims are the political sabotage efforts of the Soviet Union, which incidentally has passed the United States in number of merchant ships and in new tonnage added to its fleet each year. The Soviet fleet has doubled in size since 1952, while the numbers of U. S. ships declined 11 per cent.

Pounding home comparisons of Russian and American maritime capacities and their portent in terms of the energetic trade war being carried on by Moscow has become a favorite topic of Navy Secretary Fred Korth in speeches throughout the country. Secretary Korth has sounded a new ring of urgency in his evaluation of the maritime future which has been lacking in the warning of many others.

Intellectuals vs Nikita

When the lieutenants of China's Mao Tse-tung sit down in July with their opposite numbers in the Soviet Union to discuss ways and means of carving up the rest of the world, they can pretend to speak for all China. After all, nobody in China has an opinion but Mao. Facing this monolithic dragon, Khrushchev's ideological bully boys will find at a slight disadvantage, for the freedom which the Soviet intellectuals assumed was theirs when Comrade K. announced his de-Stalinization policies has never been wholly relinquished. With a restless intellectual class at his back, Khrushchev might not dare a return to Stalinism to please Mao even if he wanted to.

Allen Dulles, the former head of the Central Intelligence Agency, put his finger on Khrushchev's troubles in a digression from the main topic of his talk at the recent American Bookellers Association Convention in Washington. Referring to information which he continues to get as an ex-CIA man, Dulles spoke of Khrushchev's difficulties in putting his artists and writers back into the deep freezer of the Stalinist epoch. The poor intellectuals, of course, have no real power; they can only avail themselves of newsprint by asking premission of the State; and in Moscow and other Soviet cities the dissident cannot hire a hall as he can in capitalist countries. Even soap boxes are unobtainable in Russia, and it is not because soap itself is scarce.

In spite of the mechanical difficulties of making themselves

heard, however, the poets and novelists of Mother Russia have found a way of expressing themselves. Allen Dulles told of audiences coming together to listen to Soviet writers read to each other from their unpublished works. Like the beatniks of New York's Greenwich Village, the Soviet poets need no magazines as long as they are in good speaking voice.

According to Mr. Dulles, this business of getting the message out in spite of Communist Party Control of the publishing apparatus has enabled the Soviet intellectual to practice a bit of one-upmanship on Khrushchev. And Khrushchev, though he would like to keep a firm rein on his writers, doesn't quite dare to cram them back into Pandora's box and sit on the lid.

The reason for Khrushchev's hesitancy, says Dulles, is that Soviet society has come more and more to depend on modern technology, which demands a climate of free thinking in order to keep pace with the advanced western nations.

The Soviet scientist can't stand an atmosphere of repression and still come up with fruitful work. He, too, has his opinions, which sometimes go along with the opinions of poets, and the attempt to clamp down on freedom in one sphere of brainwork seems willy-nilly to breed a paralyzing fear all across the intellectual board.

Given a bit of time, Khrushchev can undoubtedly force some measure of unity on his recalcitrant artists. Leonid Ilyichev, the

The problem is one of the present, not the future. Soviet merchant ships now number 1,168 as compared to the United States' 985. The Soviet are already making propaganda hay from these statistics by exhibiting their superior number of flag ships in ports throughout the world as evidence the United States is a declining world power.

It should be noted that the U. S. has experienced great increases and valleys in its maritime fleet over the last 100 years. In time of war, an all-out drive is made to rebuild the fleet to one second to none, but between wars the merchantmen sink into steady declines. The sense of urgency Mr. Korth speaks of seems to be missing in the economic struggle between the East and West.

Yet this struggle is as vital to the survival of the free world as the most deadly hot war. Khrushchev and company savor the taste of maritime victory. They will not slacken the drive for sea superiority and the resultant trade gains such a victory will bring. The question remains—what will be the American answer to this challenge?

By John Chamberlain

ideological boss of the Communist Party, has already tried to herd the artists into line before Mao Tse-tung's disciplined lieutenants put in their appearance for what may be the big Communist powwow of the mid-century. The commissar of the intellectuals asked for a single State-wide organization of creative workers to replace individual unions. In a placating gesture, Ilyichev announced that he contemplated no complete crackdown on writers. But he advised writers that they had better not remain silent at a time when the Party demands a "struggle against ideological warring."

This warning would seem to indicate that Allen Dulles's information, while it no longer comes through classified CIA channels, is still pretty good. Ilyichev has admitted that Soviet artists are still balky. As Dulles says, "the book may yet prove mightier than the bomb."

Without a sullen intellectual class at his back, Mao Tse-tung can easily afford to lecture Khrushchev about the duty of all good Leninists to return to an activist revolutionary line. Mao took the precaution plan in 1957 to ferret out all of his dissatisfied intellectuals. Promising them the freedom to "let a hundred flowers bloom," he lured the intellectuals into declaring themselves. Then, with his enemies revealed, he proceeded to chop off their heads.

The only trouble with this course is that Mao Tse-tung, having liquidated his nation's brains, is dependent on Soviet Russia for such things as machinery, food, and purified uranium or plutonium for experimenting with an atom bomb. A dictator may be in trouble if he lets a hundred flowers bloom. He is also in trouble if he doesn't.

Try and Stop Me

WHEN GENERAL PATTON was in an expansive humor, he liked to tell a story about a valuable officer under Napoleon who developed a brain tumor and had to submit to an emergency operation. The surgeon, maintaining Patton, unscrewed the officer's cranium, took out the brain, and laid it on the table.

Just then a messenger arrived with the glad tidings that the officer had been promoted from Colonel to General. With a whoop of joy he bounced up from the operating table, slapped on his cranium, and headed for the nearest exit. "Wait a minute," cried the surgeon. "You've forgotten to put back your brain."

"I won't need it now," called back the patient. "I'm a General!"

"Golly," sighed a young dreamer, "I wish I had enough money to buy a herd of elephants." "What would you do with a herd of elephants?" scoffed a companion. "Not a thing," grinned the dreamer. "I'd just like to have that much money."

"I'll tell you what a terrible cook my wife is," grumbled a merchant to an associate. "The worst news I read in the paper all year is that they've settled the butchers' strike."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

It is a source of gratification to report the vast researches that are in constant progress all over the world in an effort to find an answer to cancer. Chemists, bacteriologists, virologists, physicists, physiologists, doctors and surgeons are representative of only a few of the sciences involved in the study of the causes of the cure of cancer. Their coordinated efforts inevitably must lead to the attainment of their objective.

Every new idea adds another valuable piece towards the completion of the intricate scientific jigsaw puzzle of this disease.

One such important contribution was recently reported.

Scientists were actually able to watch and photograph the formation of cancer cells through small plastic windows painlessly inserted into the ear of rabbits. Vital information evolved from this experiment that shows how cancer cells attach themselves to the inner wall of blood vessels.

This immediately opens avenues of investigation that will show how cancer cells extend from one area of the body to a distant part of the body. Already this wonderful study has stimulated other scientists to begin work in the preparation of an enzyme that will dissolve cancer cells before any permanently attach themselves to such distant blood vessels.

Scientific progress is planned and methodically calculated to eventually bring to mankind the cure for cancer.

A large group of herdsmen in far-off Somaliland was reported to have little or no evidence of diseases of the heart and blood vessels. Scientists under the auspices of the World Health Organization immediately pursued this lead in an effort to uncover the reasons for this unusual record.

The diet of the herdsmen seemed to be the obvious starting place. It was found that their diet consisted chiefly of large quantities of camel's milk.

But when the chemical content of camel's milk was analyzed, it was found to contain twice as much fat as cow's milk. This was particularly surprising in the light of the present-day concept of the relationship between high fat intake and diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

A team of psychologists then began an investigation of the personality traits of the Somali herdsmen. The scientists concluded that freedom from emotional stress among the herdsmen was an important factor in the absence of chronic diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Free of the tensions and pressures of our complex society, these herdsmen are able to reap the benefits of their placid, uncomplicated existence by the enjoyment of good health.

Such studies indicate the vast distribution of world-wide scientific interest in every facet of the cause and cure of disease.

Although it is unrealistic to suggest that the lives of most of us can be as undisturbed and as free of tension as the life of a herdsmen, nevertheless the story of these herdsmen should serve to remind us that much of our emotional stress can be minimized, or even avoided, when we recog-

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Mortgage funds are readily available in most sections of the nation despite tightening of credit in the short-term money market. And building of housing units this year should about equal last year's volume, while other construction is expected to rise above 1962.

Foreclosures have been rising, however, despite a steady increase in personal incomes enjoyed by most home owners.

These mixed trends — ample mortgage funds, tighter short-term credit, rising construction and even steeper rise in foreclosures—are part of today's changing economy that gives forecasters new headaches.

"Although some easing in housing starts is to be expected once the winter losses are made up," says Dr. Roy L. Reiersen, senior vice president and chief economist for the year as a whole will probably total close to last year's 1.4 million, with apartment houses counting for an increased percentage of the total."

He adds that "a large volume of mortgage commitments is reportedly still on the books of institutional lenders."

Taking the long look, the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. points out one of the problems.

"Encouraged by modern liberalized mortgage financing and rising postwar incomes," the Minneapolis based firm says, "non-farm home ownership in the United States has expanded by nearly 100 per cent since the end of World War I. But in those same 17 years, the annual toll of defaulted residential mortgages resulting in foreclosures has zoomed more than 700 per cent."

The figures are: At the end of the war 16 million nonfarm families owned their homes; today 31 million do. But in 1962 more than 86,000 nonfarm houses were foreclosed, the highest total since 1939 and capping 10 straight annual increases.

Official estimates put foreclosures in the first three months of 1963 at 23,500, compared with 21,000 in the like period of 1962.

The insurance company thinks the trouble is the "old American custom of overdoing a good thing, in this case the easing of mortgage credit to encourage home ownership."

It reports that 44 per cent of the nation's homes were mortgaged in 1950 for an average of 42 per cent of their value. Today more than 60 per cent are mortgaged to an average of more than 50 per cent of their value.

In the field of commercial construction Dr. Reiersen notes two trouble spots this year—"reports of difficulty in finding tenants for the steadily increasing supply of office space in New York and some other areas of the country, and a cutback in the construction of new shopping centers." But completion of the large number kept 1963's total at about the same level.

And he looks for industrial construction to improve in the months ahead, as well as greater activity in public construction. Adding them all up, the New York banker looks for $62.5 billion of construction this year, 2 per cent higher than last year's record.

The funds are available, the urge to build or to own one's own home is still high—and the mortgage terms are still attractive.

The Soviet fleet has doubled in size since 1952, while the numbers of U. S. ships declined 11 per cent.

Pounding home comparisons of Russian and American maritime capacities and their portent in terms of the energetic trade war being carried on by Moscow has become a favorite topic of Navy Secretary Fred Korth in speeches throughout the country. Secretary Korth has sounded a new ring of urgency in his evaluation of the maritime future which has been lacking in the warning of many others.

The problem is one of the present, not the future. Soviet merchant ships now number 1,168 as compared to the United States' 985. The Soviet are already making propaganda hay from these statistics by exhibiting their superior number of flag ships in ports throughout the world as evidence the United States is a declining world power.

It should be noted that the U. S. has experienced great increases and valleys in its maritime fleet over the last 100 years. In time of war, an all-out drive is made to rebuild the fleet to one second to none, but between wars the merchantmen sink into steady declines. The sense of urgency Mr. Korth speaks of seems to be missing in the economic struggle between the East and West.

Yet this struggle is as vital to the survival of the free world as the most deadly hot war. Khrushchev and company savor the taste of maritime victory. They will not slacken the drive for sea superiority and the resultant trade gains such a victory will bring. The question remains—what will be the American answer to this challenge?

Intellectuals vs Nikita

By John Chamberlain

When the lieutenants of China's Mao Tse-tung sit down in July with their opposite numbers in the Soviet Union to discuss ways and means of carving up the rest of the world, they can pretend to speak for all China. After all, nobody in China has an opinion but Mao. Facing this monolithic dragon, Khrushchev's ideological bully boys will be at a slight disadvantage, for the freedom which the Soviet intellectuals assumed was theirs when Comrade K. announced his de-Stalinization policies has never been wholly relinquished. With a restless intellectual class at his back, Khrushchev might not dare a return to Stalinism to please Mao even if he wanted to.

Allen Dulles, the former head of the Central Intelligence Agency, put his finger on Khrushchev's troubles in a digression from the main topic of his talk at the recent American Booksellers Association Convention in Washington. Referring to information which he continues to get as an ex-CIA man, Dulles spoke of Khrushchev's difficulties in putting his artists and writers back into the deep freezer of the Stalinist epoch. The poor intellectuals, of course, have no real power; they can only avail themselves of newprint by asking premission of the State; and in Moscow and other Soviet cities the dissident cannot hire a hall as he can in capitalist countries. Even soap boxes are unobtainable in Russia, and it is not because soap itself is scarce.

In spite of the mechanical difficulties of making themselves

heard, however, the poets and novelists of Mother Russia have found a way of expressing themselves. Allen Dulles told of audiences coming together to listen to Soviet writers read to each other from their unpublished works. Like the beatniks of New York's Greenwich Village, the Soviet poets need no magazines as long as they are in good speaking voice.

According to Mr. Dulles, this business of getting the message out in spite of Communist Party Control of the publishing apparatus has enabled the Soviet intellectual to practice a bit of one-upmanship on Khrushchev. And Khrushchev, though he would like to keep a firm rein on his writers, doesn't quite dare to cram them back into Pandora's box and sit on the lid.

The reason for Khrushchev's hesitancy, says Dulles, is that Soviet society has come more and more to depend on modern technology, which demands a climate of free thinking in order to keep pace with the advanced western nations.

The Soviet scientist can't stand an atmosphere of repression and still come up with fruitful work. He, too, has his opinions, which sometimes go along with the opinions of poets, and the attempt to clamp down on freedom in one sphere of brainwork seems willy-nilly to breed a paralyzing fear all across the intellectual board.

Given a bit of time, Khrushchev can undoubtedly force some measure of unity on his recalcitrant artists. Leonid Ilyichev, the ideological boss of the Communist Party, has already tried to herd the artists into line before Mao Tse-tung's disciplined lieutenants put in their appearance for what may be the big Communist powwow of the mid-century. The commissar of the intellectuals asked for a single State-wide organization of creative workers to replace individual unions, in a placating gesture. Ilyichev announced that he contemplated no complete crackdown on writers. But he advised writers that they had better not remain silent at a time when the Party demands a "struggle against ideological wavering."

This warning would seem to indicate that Allen Dulles's information, while it no longer comes through classified CIA channels, is still pretty good. Ilyichev has admitted that Soviet artists are still balky. As Dulles says, "the book may yet prove mightier than the bomb."

Without a sullen intellectual class at his back, Mao Tse-tung can easily afford to lecture Khrushchev about the duty of all good Leninists to return to an activist revolutionary line. Mao took the precaution back in 1957 to ferret out all of his dissatisfied intellectuals. Promising them the freedom to "let a hundred flowers bloom," he lured the intellectuals into declaring themselves. Then, with his enemies revealed, he proceeded to chop off their heads.

The only trouble with this course is that Mao Tse-tung, having liquidated his nation's brains, is dependent on Soviet Russia for such things as machinery, food, and purified uranium or plutonium for experimenting with an atom bomb. A dictator may be in trouble if he lets a hundred flowers bloom. He is also in trouble if he doesn't.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN GENERAL PATTON was in an expansive humor, he liked to tell a story about a valuable officer under Napoleon who developed a brain tumor and had to submit to an emergency operation. The surgeon, maintained Patton, unscrewed the officer's cranium, took out the brain, and laid it on the table.

Just then a messenger arrived with the glad tidings that the officer had been promoted from Colonel to General. With a whoop of joy he bounced up from the operating table, slapped on his cranium, and headed for the nearest exit. "Wait a minute," cried the surgeon. "You've forgotten to put back your brain." "I won't need it now," called back the patient. "I'm a General!"

"Golly," sighed a young dreamer, "I wish I had enough money to buy a herd of elephants." "What would you do with a herd of elephants?" scoffed a companion. "Not a thing," grinned the dreamer. "I'd just like to have that much money."

"I'll tell you what a terrible cook my wife is," grumbled a merchant to an associate. "The worst news I read in the paper all year is that they've settled the butchers' strike."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

It is a source of gratification to report the vast researches that are in constant progress all over the world in an effort to find an answer to cancer. Chemists, bacteriologists, virologists, physicists, physiologists, doctors and surgeons are representative of only a few of the sciences involved in the study of the causes of the cure of cancer. Their coordinated efforts inevitably must lead to the attainment of their objective.

Every new idea adds another valuable piece towards the completion of the intricate scientific jigsaw puzzle of this disease. One such important contribution was recently reported. Scientists were actually able to watch and photograph the formation of cancer cells through small plastic windows painlessly inserted into the ear of rabbits. Vital information evolved from this experiment that shows how cancer cells attach themselves to the inner wall of blood vessels.

This immediately opens avenues of investigation that will show how cancer cells extend from one area of the body to a distant part of the body. Already this wonderful study has stimulated other scientists to begin work in the preparation of an enzyme that will dissolve cancer cells before any permanent attach themselves to such distant blood vessels.

Scientific progress is planned and methodically calculated to eventually bring to mankind the cure for cancer.

A large group of herdsmen in far-off Somalia was reported to have little or no evidence of diseases of the heart and blood vessels. Scientists under the auspices of the World Health Organization immediately pursued this lead in an effort to uncover the reasons for this unusual record. The diet of the herdsmen seemed to be the obvious starting place. It was found that their diet consisted chiefly of large quantities of camel's milk.

But when the chemical content of camel's milk was analyzed, it was found to contain twice as much fat as cow's milk. This was particularly surprising in the light of the present-day concept of the relationship between high fat intake and diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

A team of psychologists then began an investigation of the personality traits of the Somali herdsmen. The scientists concluded that freedom from emotional stress among the herdsmen was an important factor in the absence of chronic diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Free of the tensions and pressures of our complex society, these herdsmen are able to reap the benefits of their placid, uncomplicated existence by the enjoyment of good health.

Such studies indicate the vast distribution of world-wide scientific interest in every facet of the cause and cure of disease.

Although it is unrealistic to suggest that the lives of most of us can be as undisturbed and as free of tension as the life of a herdsmen, nevertheless the story of these herdsmen should serve to remind us that much of our emotional stress can be minimized, or even avoided, when we recognize how unimportant most of our day-to-day problems really are.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mortgage funds are readily available in most sections of the nation despite tightening of credit in the short-term money market. And building of housing units this year should about equal last year's volume, while other construction is expected to rise above 1962.

Foreclosures have been rising, however, despite a steady increase in personal incomes enjoyed by most home owners.

These mixed trends — ample mortgage funds, tighter short-term credit, rising construction and even steeper rise in foreclosures—are part of today's changing economy that gives forecasters new headaches.

"Although some easing in housing starts is to be expected once the winter losses are made up," says Dr. Roy L. Reiersen, senior vice president and chief economist for the year as a whole will probably total close to last year's 1.4 million, with apartment houses accounting for an increased percentage of the total."

He adds that "a large volume of mortgage commitments is reportedly still on the books of institutional lenders."

Taking the long look, the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. points out one of the problems.

"Encouraged by modern liberalized mortgage financing and rising postwar incomes," the Minneapolis based firm says, "non-farm home ownership in the United States has expanded by nearly 100 per cent since the end of World War I. But in those same 17 years, the annual toll of defaulted residential mortgages resulting in foreclosures has zoomed more than 700 per cent."

The figures are: At the end of the war 16 million nonfarm families owned their homes; today 31 million do. But in 1962 more than 86,000 nonfarm houses were foreclosed, the highest total since 1939 and capping 10 straight annual increases.

Official estimates put foreclosures in the first three months of 1963 at 23,500, compared with 21,000 in the like period of 1962.

The insurance company thinks the trouble is the "old American custom of overdoing a good thing, in this case the easing of mortgage credit to encourage home ownership."

It reports that 44 per cent of the nation's homes were mortgaged in 1950 for an average of 42 per cent of their value. Today more than 60 per cent are mortgaged to an average of more than 50 per cent of their value.

In the field of commercial construction Dr. Reiersen notes two trouble spots this year—"reports of difficulty in finding tenants for the steadily increasing supply of office space in New York and some other areas of the country, and a cutback in the construction of new shopping centers." But completion of the large number kept 1963's total at about the same level.

And he looks for industrial construction to improve in the months ahead, as well as greater activity in public construction. Adding them all up, the New York banker looks for $62.5 billion of construction this year, 2 per cent higher than last year's record.

The funds are available, the urge to build or to own one's own home is still high—and the mortgage terms are still attractive.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy stopped short—in his civil rights program—of asking Congress to give the attorney general all the authority some integrationist leaders want him to have.

But, if Congress granted all the President did ask, the attorney general would have far more muscle in civil rights cases.

Southern Democrats will fight this just as they will Kennedy's request for a law to make private business places stop discrimination against Negroes. Both are sore points.

It was in 1957 that Congress passed the first civil rights bill in this century after strenuous opposition by the South particularly on this issue.

A provision in the bill that year to give the attorney general power to seek a court injunction against anyone depriving anyone of his civil rights in any field. That covered the whole show.

In the end the Southerners won and this provision was knocked out but they had to make a concession. They didn't win a full victory. The bill which passed Congress did strengthen the attorney general's hand in the voting field.

The 1957 law said he could seek injunctions when an individual was deprived of his voting rights.

Then in 1960 Congress passed a second civil rights bill. This added a bit to the attorney general's authority by giving him the right to demand voting records for 22 months back in federal elections.

And federal courts, in districts where the records were questioned, could compel voting officials to comply with the attorney general's demand.

All this could be considered progress but it was slow. And the results were not dazzling. Just last month Berl I. Bernhard, staff director of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, told Congress:

Since 1957 the attorney general's office had instituted 38 lawsuits in voting rights cases but a substantial number of Negroes were being denied the right to vote in about 100 counties in eight Southern states.

In his civil rights proposals last week Kennedy asked Congress to give the attorney general a much broader sphere of action by authorizing him to step in directly in two additional fields:

1. To seek a court injunction against a segregated public school which refused to admit a Negro child if the parent couldn't afford a legal fight or was afraid to start it.

Bette Davis, Paul Henreid Together Again but He's Boss

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A fine old partnership is being renewed in a new guise — Bette Davis and Paul Henreid.

You remember the two cigarettes. Of course you do. How Paul sentimentally lighted two of them and handed Bette one in the unabashedly sentimental "Now Voyager" (1942). It was the greatest thing that happened to smoking until the filter tip.

They're back together again, though smoking independently these days. They returned to their old acting grounds, Warner Brothers, to make "Dead Ringer." This time Henreid is directing Bette, who is playing two of the starring roles. Karl Malden is her leading man.

"It's really marvelous to be working with Bette again and to have Jack Warner put his arms around me and say, 'Paul, it's great to have you back,'" said Henreid. "Simply marvelous."

He indeed seems to be a happy man as he embarks on the complicated film, which will require split-screens and other trickery for Bette's dual role. He is no tyro at directing, having done a few modest films and 100 television shows.

How did he develop that phase of his career?

"That was really what interested me most when I studied at the academy in Vienna," said Tristram Henreid. "But I neglected my desire to direct because of the gratification of the success I enjoyed as an actor first in Vienna, then in London and New York and finally, here."

The big change in his career came after he had acted in a bomb called "10,000 Bedrooms." After he saw the preview he told his wife: "If that is what is ahead for me as an actor, I would rather be running a gas station."

Providentially, Alfred Hitchcock called him shortly afterward. He was undergoing an operation. Could Paul direct a television show he was supposed to do?

Paul did. He has since directed

40 Hitchcocks, plus a score of other filmed television shows. He still acts in an occasional film.

his latest: "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

He admitted directing brings much less return.

"Naturally I have had to change my way of life," he said. "No more yacht, no more horses for my daughters. Yet there is no great difference between an income of $75,000 which is still a lot of money, and $300,000."

He is not at all concerned about working with Davis, who has been reputed to fricassee directors. He directed her in a Hitchcock show and reports they got along famously. "The main thing is to consult with Bette beforehand so you agree the dialogue and action is right," he said.

Best "bouquet" a bride could have...and biggest bargain!

A bride these days has the advantage of electrical "servants" her mother never dreamed of. It would take 40 servants to do the work electricity does in the average home!

Today's brides will use 5½ times more electricity than their mothers used in 1935—and they will pay less per unit of electricity! (One of the few things a bride can count on buying for less.)

How has electricity remained such a bargain? Thanks to Ohio's historically favorable business climate, the electric companies have been able to raise the millions needed to make improvements. Through these improvements, they have kept the price of electricity down. The increased use of electricity has helped, too. The result: In Ohio, electricity is the biggest bargain in a bride's budget...the biggest bargain in your budget, too.

2. To seek a court injunction against a business place that discriminated against Negroes if the Negro couldn't afford the cost of a court suit or was afraid to start one.

Even this wouldn't be as simple, direct or fast as it sounds in trying to get a business place to stop discriminating against Negroes.

Under Kennedy's plan there would be room for a lot of delay before the attorney general went to court to put an end to the discrimination. The court action would be the last resort.

First the effort would have to be made—through talk and attempted persuasion—to get the proprietor of a business place to stop discriminating. If that failed, the attorney general would go to court.

There is one way, however, in which the attorney general could skip the talk and go directly to court for an injunction: if he felt any effort to get voluntary compliance was useless.

All of this has been an explanation of Kennedy's proposal as he laid it before Congress. But what Congress does with it, in view of Southern opposition, is something else.

Bette Davis, Paul Henreid Together Again but He's Boss

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A fine old partnership is being renewed in a new guise — Bette Davis and Paul Henreid.

You remember the two cigarettes. Of course you do. How Paul sentimentally lit two of them and handed Bette one in the unabashedly sentimental "Now Voyager" (1942). It was the greatest thing that happened to smoking until the filter tip.

They're back together again, though smoking independently these days. They returned to their old acting grounds, Warner Brothers, to make "Dead Ringer." This time Henreid is directing Bette, who is playing two of the starring roles. Karl Malden is her leading man.

"It's really marvelous to be working with Bette again and to have Jack Warner put his arms around me and say, 'Paul, it's great to have you back,' said Henreid. "Simply marvelous."

He indeed seems to be a happy man as he embarks on the complicated film, which will require split-screens and other trickery for Bette's dual role. He is no tyro at directing, having done a few modest films and 100 television shows.

How did he develop that phase of his career?

"That was really what interested me most when I studied at the academy in Vienna," said Triest-born Henreid. "But I neglected my desire to direct because of the gratification of the success I enjoyed as an actor first in Vienna, then in London and New York and finally, here."

The big change in his career came after he had acted in a bomb called "10,000 Bedrooms." After he saw the preview he told his wife: "If that is what is ahead for me as an actor, I would rather be running a gas station."

Providentially, Alfred Hitchcock called him shortly afterward. He was undergoing an operation. Could Paul direct a television show he was supposed to do?

Paul did. He has since directed

40 Hitchcocks, plus a score of other filmed television shows. He still acts in an occasional film.

He admitted directing brings much less return.

"Naturally I have had to change my way of life," he said. "No more yacht, no more horses for my daughters. Yet there is no great difference between an income of $75,000 which is still a lot of money, and $300,000."

He is not at all concerned about working with Davis, who has been directed her in a Hitchcock show and reports they got along famously. "The main thing is to consult with Bette beforehand so you agree the dialogue and action is right," he said.

Cincy Dem Chief Hurls Debate Challenge at Foes

CINCINNATI (AP) — John A. Wieth, chairman of the Hamilton County Democratic Party, has challenged opponents of his party's city charter modification plan to public debate.

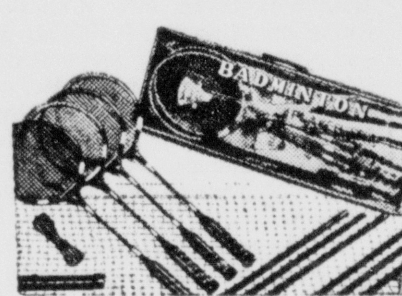

Both Republicans and Charter Party members have assailed the Democrats' proposal to abandon the city manager system and return to a "strong mayor" government and an enlarged City Council.

Best "bouquet" a bride could have...and biggest bargain!

A bride these days has the advantage of electrical "servants" her mother never dreamed of. It would take 40 servants to do the work electricity does in the average home!

Today's brides will use 5½ times more electricity than their mothers used in 1935—and they will pay less per unit of electricity! (One of the few things a bride can count on buying for less.)

How has electricity remained such a bargain? Thanks to Ohio's historically favorable business climate, the electric companies have been able to raise the millions needed to make improvements. Through these improvements, they have kept the price of electricity down. The increased use of electricity has helped, too. The result: In Ohio, electricity is the biggest bargain in a bride's budget...the biggest bargain in your budget, too.

*Based on price of residential electricity for 250 kilowatt hours from Federal Power Commission figures.

Miss Trump Weds Mr. Jende In Candlelight Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. MARIS JENDE

Miss Karen Patricia Trump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Trump, Route 1, Williamsport, became the bride of Mr. Maris Jende, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jende, Route 1, Kingston, 8:30 p. m. June 1 in The Chillicothe United Church, Chillicothe.

The Rev. Fred C. Michelson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and daisies and white tapers in seven-branch candelabra. The windows were accented with white tapers and greenery and the family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. Robert Hickel presented the organ selections, "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell, "Siciliano," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "All Glory Be to God on High" by Bach and "Abide, O Dearest Jesus" by Karg-Elert.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown designed along princess lines. Re-embroidered Chantilly lace fashioned the bodice and long sleeves, the scalloped edge forming a bateau neckline. The bouffant skirt, with fullness concentrated in the back, terminated into a chapel train. A crown of pearls held her bridal veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of white phalaenopsis orchids and white sweetheart roses accented with ivy foliage. Her only jewelry was a diamond and silver snowflake pendant necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Richard Hooks, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a lilac sleeveless street-length dress of chiffon over taffeta with a full skirt and a scoop neckline. The waistline was trimmed with a self-belt of white pearls and sequins and the back with a flowing drape of chiffon caught at the shoulders.

A ringle hat of white satin held her circle veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of lilac and white daisies accented with ivy foliage. Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Gay McCafferty and Miss Catherine Ann Barnes. They wore street-length dresses of yellow nylon over taffeta fashioned with bell skirts and topped with a matching scalloped bolero jackets with short sleeves. Their hats were white petal roses accented by circle veils and they carried cascade bouquets of white daisies with yellow centers accented with ivy foliage.

Mr. Aris Jende, brother of the groom, served as best man and ushers were Mr. Marion Jones and Mr. Thomas Artman.

Mrs. Trump chose for her daughter's wedding a teal blue dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of deep blue and gray print with a matching jacket. Her accessories also were white and both wore corsages of white phalaenopsis orchids and white sweetheart roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church's educational building. The bride's table was centered with the traditional wedding cake. Bakers fern and white daisies surrounded the cake and punch bowls. Floating daisies and ivy were used in flower bowls filled with lilac water. Hostesses were Mrs. Claude R. McCafferty Sr., Mrs. Ray Hooks and Mrs. Donald Schleich.

For a wedding trip to Port Clinton, O., the bride wore a white cotton sheath dress with a duster of yellow and white paisley print, lined with white. Her corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids and sweetheart roses was from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Columbus.

The new Mrs. Jende is a 1961 graduate of Williamsport High School, a 196 graduate of Columbus Business University, and is now employed by The Jeffrey Manufacturing Company in Columbus as an executive secretary in the Chain Division.

DEB SHOP

CHATTER

You often hear people (usually the male species) say that women are vain and conceited. Well, honestly, all you have to do is work in our place for a few days and you will certainly change your mind about that.

We have been fitting clothes on women for many, many years and so help us, we haven't had one admit being satisfied with her figure! We are too thin, too tall, too skinny, there isn't one who will try on a new dress and say... "My, but I DO look lovely in this!" If one ever does, there will be no more of this chatter, because we will be floating around in that special Heaven reserved for salesgirls.

On the other hand, it is just human nature to try and look our best in summer and this is the most trying time for any woman's wardrobe. We expect the most from hot weather clothes and we always want to pay the least for them.

For this very reason we invite you to shop at (The Deb Shop). We have gone all out to secure smart looking cottons that will take you from early morning until late at night, with that fresh, cool look.

The neat little sun-dress to wear mornings, comes in all sizes. The pants, in three lengths, with shirts to match. The casual afternoon dress of dacron and cotton; the brand new darks for after five; the summer suit for travel or vacation; the lingerie to go under any and all of these things...

You name it and we have it... and what's more we would love to share... we will be looking for you at THE DEB SHOP.

From Spaghetti Benders!

DEAR ABBY: Shame on you for suggesting that spaghetti be eaten by twisting the forked-up spaghetti into the hollow of a large spoon. That's like condoning drinking coffee out of a saucer after fanning it with your hat!

AFICIONADO

DEAR ABBY: Where did you get the idea that one uses a fork and a spoon for spaghetti? According to Emily Post it is not considered etiquette either here in Italy? Please correct yourself before millions of Dear Abby fans start eating their spaghetti like Italian peasants.

VELIA

DEAR VELIA: All right, so I was taught to eat spaghetti like an Italian peasant. But it's easier to eat that way and in my book, common sense and convenience transcend "etiquette", so let us not have any Emily Post-mortems.

DEAR READERS: I finally became so exercised over the spaghetti-eating controversy that I sent the following cable to a well-bred Italian friend in Florence, Italy: "In Italy, is it considered proper etiquette to eat spaghetti with a fork and large spoon?"

ABBITA VAN BURENIO
By return cable, this reply was received: "Only the middle-class southern Italian eats spaghetti with a fork and large spoon. Aforementioned technique strictly excluded by good society throughout the whole of Italy."

GIORGIO GIANESE
DEAR ABBY: I followed through on your memo, telephoned a number of the leading Italian restaurants in the Los Angeles area, and asked, "How do your customers eat spaghetti?"

DEB SHOP

CHATTER

You often hear people (usually the male species) say that women are vain and conceited. Well, honestly, all you have to do is work in our place for a few days and you will certainly change your mind about that.

We have been fitting clothes on women for many, many years and so help us, we haven't had one admit being satisfied with her figure! We are too thin, too tall, too skinny, there isn't one who will try on a new dress and say... "My, but I DO look lovely in this!" If one ever does, there will be no more of this chatter, because we will be floating around in that special Heaven reserved for salesgirls.

On the other hand, it is just human nature to try and look our best in summer and this is the most trying time for any woman's wardrobe. We expect the most from hot weather clothes and we always want to pay the least for them.

For this very reason we invite you to shop at (The Deb Shop). We have gone all out to secure smart looking cottons that will take you from early morning until late at night, with that fresh, cool look.

The neat little sun-dress to wear mornings, comes in all sizes. The pants, in three lengths, with shirts to match. The casual afternoon dress of dacon and cotton; the brand new darks for after five; the summer suit for travel or vacation; the lingerie to go under any and all of these things...

You name it and we have it... and what's more we would love to share... we will be looking for you at THE DEB SHOP.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

From Spaghetti Benders!

DEAR ABBY: Shame on you for suggesting that spaghetti be eaten by twisting the forked-up spaghetti into the hollow of a large spoon. That's like condoning drinking coffee out of a saucer after fanning it with your hat!

AFICIONADO

DEAR ABBY: Where did you get the idea that one uses a fork and a spoon for spaghetti? According to Emily Post it is not considered etiquette either here in Italy? Please correct yourself before millions of Dear Abby fans start eating their spaghetti like Italian peasants.

VELIA

DEAR VELIA: All right, so I was taught to eat spaghetti like an Italian peasant. But it's easier to eat that way and in my book, common sense and convenience transcend "etiquette", so let us not have any Emily Postno-tems.

DEAR READERS: I finally became so exercised over the spaghetti-eating controversy that I sent the following cable to a well-bred Italian friend in Florence, Italy: "In Italy, is it considered proper etiquette to eat spaghetti with a fork and large spoon?"

ABBITA VAN BURENIO

By return cable, this reply was received: "Only the middle-class southern Italina eats spaghetti with a fork and large spoon. Aforementioned technique strictly excluded by good society throughout the whole of Italy."

GIORGIO GIANESE

DEAR ABBY: I followed through on your memo, telephoned a number of the leading Italian restaurants in the Los Angeles area, and asked, "How do your customers eat spaghetti?"

The Replies:
"With a fork and large spoon"
Patrone's

Giants, Bums Both Gain in NL Flag Race

Frisco Now Is No. 1 As Los Angeles Edges Ahead of Cincinnati

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Getting a quick jump, the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers have hopped ahead in that game of leapfrog they're playing in the National League.

The Giants scrambled for all their runs in the first inning Monday night and bounced into the lead over St. Louis, shading the Cardinals 4-3 with some clutch relief work from Billy Pierce.

The Dodgers collected all their runs in the first three innings and took third place away from Cincinnati, snapping the Reds' winning string at seven games, 5-4.

At latest count, the Giants are one-half game ahead of the Cards, with the Dodgers another one-half game back and the Reds still another one-half game behind.

In the only other NL game played, Denny Lemaster of Milwaukee became the fastest in a lengthening line of pitchers to shut out Houston's runless wonders with a four-hit 3-0 victory. The loss was the ninth in a row for the last-place Colts, and the shut-out was the fifth in their last six games.

The Chicago White Sox beat the New York Yankees 5-2 in a match between the American League's two top clubs. In other AL action—Boston trimmed Cleveland 7-5, Kansas City knocked off Detroit 6-3, Minneapolis downed Baltimore 6-4 and Los Angeles overcame Washington 3-2.

Pierce replaced Juan Marichal in the seventh inning at St. Louis with one run in, a man on second and two out and retired the last seven Cards in order. With that help, Marichal's record went to 113.

Harvey Kuenn led off the game against loser Lew Burdette with a triple and was out a home trying to score on a grounder, but the Giants quickly recovered for their four runs. After Willie Mays' single, and error on a walk, Burdette hit Orlando Cepeda with a pitch, forcing in a run.

Then came Ed Bailey's sacrifice fly, another error, and Jim Davenport's run-scoring single. Bill White tagged Marichal for a two-run single in the fifth and the star right-hander gave up a homer to Julian Javier and double to Dick Groat in the seventh before Pierce stepped in.

The Dodgers roughed up Joey Jay for their five runs and six of their seven hits in the first 1-13 innings and it looked like a breeze for Don Drysdale. The big right-hander checked the Reds without a hit over five innings and allowed only two through seven—but never got through the eighth.

Singles by Gordy Coleman and Leo Cardenas around two walks brought on Ron Perranoski in relief of Drysdale, and Cincinnati counted three more runs on pinch singles by Tommy Harper and Ken Walters and a double play grounder before Perranoski finally quelled the rally.

Willie Davis' three-run homer was the major blow against Jay, the 21-game winner of last year who currently is 3-11.

Two home runs by Dick Radcliff a pair of triples by Johnny Measamer and one by Jim Morgan and doubles by Bob Cassidy and Dave Morgan supplied the power for the winners.

Dick Radcliff was the winning hurler. He struck out 12 and walked five. He permitted only five hits, including a double and a single by Mack Shaw.

RANDY MARTIN, pitching the first four innings for the First National Bank, walked six and fanned four. He was charged with the loss, giving up 15 runs on 13 hits.

Harold Smith finished the game, allowing three runs on three hits and one walk.

Sugar Ray Drops Nod to Giardello

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former middleweight and welterweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson is 43 but he's still good enough to beat most middleweights, according to Joe Giardello who scored a unanimous 10-round decision over the aging former champ Monday night.

But Robinson seemed uncertain he'll be tackling any more fighters middleweights or otherwise.

Robinson said after the fight "I'm not sure what my future plans are. I can't make up my mind now."

Robinson, 158½, had hoped to gain a shot at middleweight champ Dick Tiger. Instead he suffered his 13th defeat. He has won 153.

Elks, Bingman's Win Close LL Tilts

It was a day for close games yesterday in the Little League majors as Elks slipped past American Legion, 10-9, and Bingman's edged Rafton, 9-8.

Elks clouted four runs in the first inning, were blanked in the second and third frames, poled two in the fourth and belted four in the fifth.

The Legion hacked three runs in four innings, but then exploded for six in the fifth. Winning Elk hurler Bryce Brown came on in the sixth and fanned the side to preserve the win and muffle the efforts to losing pitcher Mike Funk.

Ty Ankrom poled a homer for the victors, Dave Bowers connected for a triple and Bryce Brown, Jack Boyer and Bruce Liston all had doubles. The Elks poked 14 hits.

STEVE NELSON had a Legion triple, while Dave Hopkins had a pair of doubles.

BPOE evened their record which now stands at 3-3. The Legion fell to 2-4 slate.

Winning Drugman once again was Paul Tassler who helped Marion Long. Tassler fanned five and walked one, while Long whiffed five and walked three.

Loser Tim Leasure was touched for 12 hits. He fanned 10 and walked five.

The score was 6-6 in the top of the sixth as Bingman's Bob Perkins walked. Chuck Zimmerman cracked his second triple, Bill Barthelmas poked a two-bagger and Gregg White rifled a single to make the score, 9-6.

Ralston sent Walt Jenkins to the plate, but he flied out. Mark Lyons cracked a single and Rod Kassler fanned. Young walked and Leasure smashed a double, leaving the Elks one down. Phil Diehl was safe on an error, driving Leasure home. But Leasure failed to touch the plate and made the third out, giving the Drugmen the game.

ZIMMERMAN poled two triples for the winners and White one. Barthelmas, Jenkins, and Tassler all had two-baggers.

Diehl socked a triple and a double in the loss. Jenkins had a triple, Kassler had two doubles and Leasure one.

Bingman's 4-2 and Ralston owns a 2-4 card.

Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics retired with 2018 points in 109 playoff games in the National Basketball Association. Elgin Baylor still playing has 2015 playoff points.

GE, Jewelers Earn Victories In BR Majors

GE turned out the DuPont light, slipping past them 10-9, while L. M. Butch walloped the Lindsey nine, 10-3, in the Babe Ruth majors yesterday.

Winner Gary Leasure relieved Rick Congrove in the first inning after a five-run DuPont outburst. Congrove allowed three extra base hits. Leasure fanned 11, walked seven and gave up five hits.

Opposing pitcher Doug Pontius allowed five hits, fanned five and walked six, but lost the game as his teammates booted eight chances.

George Watson collected a GE double as did Tootle.

DUPONTER Dave Iery belted a triple and a double and was matched by Jim Moorehead. Buddy Strehle had a losing double.

GE is 3-3 while DuPont holds a 2-4 slate.

Phil Smith mastered the Lindsey nine on six hits, and fanned 6.

Loser Chet Hill was touched for nine hits, including two bases loaded triples. He whiffed eight.

Bruce Tigner had one bases loaded three-bagger, and George Speakman had the other.

Hill had two singles in the losing effort.

L. M. Butch is now 2-3 while Lindsey holds top spot with a 4-2 slate in the tight major division race.

Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics retired with 2018 points in 109 playoff games in the National Basketball Association. Elgin Baylor still playing has 2015 playoff points.

Mac's Goodyear, Circleville Lumber Maintain Win Streaks

Circleville Lumber and Mac's Goodyear maintained their perfect records in the Mosquito League yesterday.

The game between Circleville Lumber and Ankrom Lumber developed into a pitchers' battle with Ricky Blankenship hurling the Roundtown Timbermen to a 4-2 win.

The Tireman needed only three hits in their 2-4 win as the Prairie Lanes trio of hurlers issued 24 free passes in a game called in the middle of the fourth inning because of the two-hour time limit.

Randy Sprout turned in the winning mound performance for the Goodyear nine, walking only four and whiffing nine. He was touched for five hits, including a triple by John Payne.

FOR THE BOWLERS, Steve Brungs started and was charged with the loss. He was relieved by Payne and Dave Thomas.

Sprout's bases loaded triple was the big blow of the game. He scored three runs on three walks and a hit.

Steven Tassler, walked four times by Prairie Lanes pitchers, scored four runs, and Ricky Metcalf tagged Mac's other two hits, both singles.

While Mac's was literally handed a win, The Circleville Lumber nine had to rely on a triple by Blankenship late in the game to drive in the winning run.

Nearly matching Blankenship's sterling one-hit mound performance was Terry Leasure for the Ankrom Lumber team.

He allowed three hits, two of them went for extra bases, issued only four bases on balls and fanned 14. He had the lone hit off Blankenship.

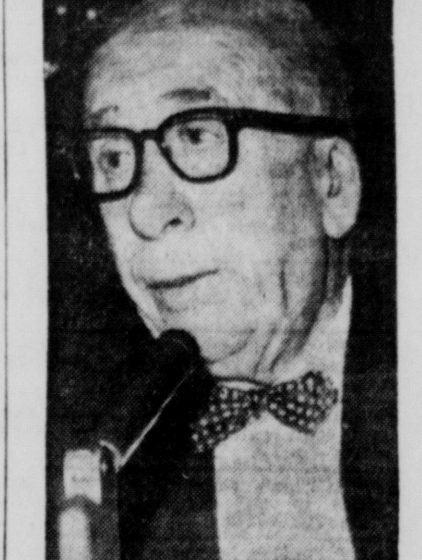

THE WINNING pitcher fanned 13 and walked five.

Thursday the Roundtown Lumber nine attempts to extend its unbeaten record to 6-0 in a meeting with once beaten Lewis Cook Insurance.

Mac's Goodyear will go after win number six Friday when winless Hill Implement provides the competition.

Victories for both Mac's and Circleville Lumber this week could set the stage for the championship battle July 2 at Atwater between the two teams.

$110,000 Pot Draws More Pro Golfers

CLEVELAND (AP) Forty-four more golfers have joined the field of top professionals competing in the $110,000 Cleveland Open starting Thursday. Duff Lawrence shot a two-under par 33-36—69 Monday to lead the qualifying for those not automatically eligible for the big golf test at Beechmont Country Club's 6,618-yard course.

Paul Bondeson of Northbrook, Ill., shot a 70, and was followed by three 71s—Bruce Devlin of Sydney, Australia, Roger Gimsberg of New York and Don Collett of Coronado, Calif. Three Ohio amateurs made the field of 44 winners, poled Bobby Little Jr. of Athens, runner-up for the state amateur championship last year, Bill Peterson of Shaker Heights and Jim Hildebrand of Willoughby. Little had a 72, and Peterson and Hildebrand each had 75s.

Others from Ohio who made the field were Herman Keiser of Barberton, former Masters' champion, 72, Charlie Smith of Elyria 74, Mike Mural Jr., assistant pro at Beechmont, 76, and Jim Gantz of Cuyahoga Falls, 76. The top golfers—National Open champion Julius Boros, Arnold Palmer, Jack Cupit, Jack Nicklaus and others—were on hand trying out the course. A $10,000 pro-amateur is scheduled Wednesday. Three amateurs will play with each pro.

Elks, Bingman's Win Close LL Tilts

It was a day for close games yesterday in the Little League majors as Elks slipped past American Legion, 10-9, and Bingman's edged Ralston, 9-8.

Elks clouted four runs in the first inning, were blanked in the second and third frames, poled two in the fourth and belted four in the fifth.

The Legion hacked three runs in four innings, but then exploded for six in the fifth. Winning Elks hurler Bryce Brown came on in the sixth and fanned the side to preserve the win and muffle the efforts to losing pitcher Mike Funk.

Ty Ankrom poled a homer for the victors, Dave Bowers connected for a triple and Bryce Brown, Jack Boyer and Bruce Liston all had doubles. The Elksmen poked 14 hits.

Ohio Women's Amateur Opens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's golfing gals, ranging in age from 17 to 80, have converged on the Brookside Country Club course for the 40th Ohio Women's Amateur Tournament.

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, 713 N. Pickaway St., and Mrs. E. W. Hedges, 980 N. Court St., posted scores of 111 and 115 respectively in the Ohio Women's Amateur Gold Tournament at Columbus.

Mrs. Carpenter will be paired with Mrs. Joe Briggs, Columbus, and Mrs. Hedges with Mrs. John Brantner, Columbus, in the fifth flight of the tournament today.

Thirty-two out of the field of 96 were set to tee off today in the championship flight which will play 18-holes daily until Friday, when two survivors of the match play event will play 36 holes for the championship.

Leading contenders for the crown include the defending champion, Mrs. John B. Whitacre of Waynesburg who under tournament rules, did not have to participate in Monday's qualifier.

Mrs. John Fitton of Hamilton was medalist in the qualifier with an even par 76. Ann Richardson of Columbus finished one stroke back with 77.

GE, Jewelers Earn Victories In BR Majors

GE turned out the DuPont light, slipping past them 10-9, while L. M. Butch walloped the Lindsey nine, 10-3, in the Babe Ruth majors yesterday.

Winner Gary Leasure relieved Rick Congrove in the first inning after a five-run DuPont outburst. Congrove allowed three extra base hits. Leasure fanned 11, walked seven and gave up five hits.

Opposing pitcher Doug Pontius allowed five hits, fanned five and walked six, but lost the game as his teammates booted eight chances.

George Watson collected a GE double as did Tootle.

DUPONTER Dave Iery belted a triple and a double and was matched by Jim Moorehead. Buddy Strehle had a losing double. GE is 3-3 while DuPont holds a 2-4 slate.

Phil Smith mastered the Lindsey nine on six hits, and fanned 6.

Loser Chet Hill was touched for nine hits, including two bases loaded triples. He wiffed eight.

Bruce Tigner had one bases loaded three-bagger, and George Speakman had the other.

Hill had two singles in the losing effort.

L. M. Butch is now 2-3 while Lindsey holds top spot with a 4-2 slate in the tight major division race.

Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics retired with 2018 points in 109 playoff games in the National Basketball Association. Elgin Baylor still playing has 2015 playoff points.

Mac's Goodyear, Circleville Lumber Maintain Win Streaks

Circleville Lumber and Mac's Goodyear maintained their perfect records in the Mosquito League yesterday.

The game between Circleville Lumber and Ankrom Lumber developed into a pitchers' battle with Ricky Blankenship hurling the Roundtown Timbermen to a 4-2 win.

The Tireman needed only three hits in their 24-2 win as the Prairie Lanes trio of hurlers issued 24 free passes in a game called in the middle of the fourth inning because of the two-hour time limit.

Randy Sprout turned in the winning mound performance for the Goodyear nine, walking only four and whiffing nine. He was touched for five hits, including a triple by John Payne.

FOR THE BOWLERS, Steve Brungs started and was charged with the loss. He was relieved by Payne and Dave Thomas. Sprout's bases loaded triple was the big blow of the game. He scored three runs on three walks and a hit.

Steven Tassler, walked four times by Prairie Lanes pitchers, scored four runs, and Ricky Metcalf tagged Mac's other two hits, both singles.

While Mac's was literally handed a win, The Circleville Lumber nine had to rely on a triple by Blankenship late in the game to drive in the winning run.

Nearly matching Blankenship's sterling one-hit mound performance was Terry Leasure for the Ankrom Lumber team.

He allowed three hits, two of them went for extra bases, issued only four bases on balls and fanned 14. He had the lone hit off Blankenship.

THE WINNING pitcher fanned 13 and walked five. Thursday the Roundtown Lumber nine attempts to extend its unbeaten record to 6-0 in a meeting with once beaten Lewis Cook Insurance.

Mac's Goodyear will go after win number six Friday when winless Hill Implement provides the competition.

Victories for both Mac's and Circleville Lumber this week could set the stage for the championship battle July 2 at Atwater between the two teams.

MINOR HEAD DIES — George M. Trautman, president of baseball's minor leagues, died at his Columbus, O., home following a short illness. He was 73.

Over-65 Group Problem Eyed

Good Bet Is Seen In Special Housing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—America's young families comprise such a big and ready market for housing that another expanding segment of the population—the over-65 group—isn't getting enough attention, Columbus architect Norver Musson says.

Musson, a practicing architect for 7 years, has become so intrigued he's written a book for developers and architects called "Buildings for the Elderly."

His co-author is Mrs. Helen Heinskild of Cincinnati. Their book will be out later this month. Private builders, civic and religious groups, labor unions, lodges and others are overlooking a good bet in not developing more housing for older persons, the bachelor architect contends.

"Americans are living longer," he says. "The oldest one who anyone knows about is 22, and there's talk of some children already born living to be 50."

"The over-65 population of this country is increasing by a half-million a year. It'll reach 20 million by 1970. Right now, it's about 17 million."

Musson says he's been interested in all kinds of housing for the elderly — "singles, groups, apartments, congregate-type" — since the Columbus firm of which he is a senior partner (Tibbals, Crumley Musson) was commissioned to design a church's "village" for older persons.

Facilities that can be rented probably would be particularly popular, Musson says, adding that research by his firm and for the book shows that:

1. There must be no disengagement from the community—"Privacy, yes, but not loneliness, and stores and medical care must be close. Location is important."
2. Careful design to avoid injury or inconvenience — "These people are growing older, and experience failing of the senses to some degree."
3. Stimulating surroundings — "We can build housing which isn't merely a storage place for people to vegetate as they grow older, but a living environment enabling them to live full, creative lives . . ."

Food Radiation Protection Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., introduced legislation Monday giving Public Health Service primary responsibility for determining what constitutes maximum safe levels of radioactivity in food.

Proxmire told the Senate the present split authority on what is a dangerous fallout level endangers the food industry and paralyzes creative action.

His bill would provide for the development by the surgeon general of improved and uniform standards of radiation protection and authorize him to conduct research, studies and investigations relating to the control of radiation hazards, including fallout.

Proxmire said the April issue of consumers reports contained that prospects are that fallout levels in food will exceed maximum permissible concentrations recommended by the International Commission on Radiological Protection.

In contrast, he added, the Federal Radiation Council reported in May that health risks from radioactivity in foods, now and over the next few years, are too small to justify counter measures.

"The confusion exemplified by conflicting reports is multiplied when we consider its effect on the public are large. Last year fear of radiation hazards caused many thousands of people to restrict the milk intake of their children because they felt that the radioactive fallout contained in milk would be harmful," Proxmire said.

Emerson Rated No Shoo-in To Win Wimbledon Tourney

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Australia's Roy Emerson, the world's top-ranked amateur tennis player, has two legs on tennis' Grand Slam but he's a long way from a shoo-in for the Wimbledon title.

"He's a goe' player and he has as good a chance as anybody of winning," said Bill Lenior of Tucson, Ariz. after failing before the Australian in Wimbledon's opening round Monday.

"But he's no cinch for the title," Lenior said. "I have the feeling he could have a bad day which would put him out."

The sentiment was echoed by former Wimbledon champion Jaroslav Drobny, now a London newspaper columnist and one of the world's leading authorities on the game.

"I take unseeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico to claim Rod Laver's vacated crown and become the new Wimbledon champion," Drobny wrote.

Osuna, a Mexican Davis Cupper who is a student at Southern California, grinned when he saw the article and said:

"I hope I can live up to his opinion."

Asked if he thought he could beat Emerson, Osuna replied:

"Let's put it this way. If I get past Santana, I'll win the tournament."

Osuna referred to second-seeded Manuel Santana of Spain, who he probably will meet in the third round. Santana did not play in the rain-shortened Monday program.

Osuna had some trouble eliminating Mikhail Mozer of Russia 6-4, 9-7, 6-3. Emerson, who already has nailed down the French and Australian titles, whipped past Lenior 6-0, 6-4, 6-3.

Rain cut Monday's program about in half and eight American entries, including Chuck McKinley, didn't get on the courts.

Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis had a 2-1 lead over Italian Davis Cup star Nicola Pietrangeli before the match was postponed. They are scheduled to finish today.

McKinley, the United States' top-ranked player, goes against Cliff Drysdale of South Africa today.

Other pairings have Gene Scott, New York, playing Owen Davidson, Australia; Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., vs. Carlos Fernandez, Brazil; and Frank Froehling, Coral Gables Fla., playing Donald Dell, Bethesda, Md.

The principal part of today's program was first-round activity for women, with Australia's Margaret Smith favored.

Five American men, including Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., survived first round play.

Ralston, who won the NCAA title last week but is unseeded at Wimbledon, beat Laci Legenstein of Austria 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Other American winners:

Herbie Flam, Palm Springs, Calif., defeated Geoff Knox, Australia 7-5, 4-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3; Jack Frost, Monterey, Calif., defeated Thomas Koch, Brazil, 36, 7-5, 9-7, 13-11; Ed Robinoff, Miami Beach, Fla., defeated Daniel Costet, France, 8-6, 6-1 6-3; William Hoogs Berkeley, Calif., defeated Jose Arilla, Spain, 8-10, 12-10, 6-2.

The big upset was the defeat of Allen Fox of Los Angeles by Rhodesia's Adrian Bey 6-4, 12-10, 6-2.

Other American first round losers included Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., Ronnie Fisher of Houston and Bill Bond of La Jolla, Calif.

Jay Unable To Keep Reds On Win Trail

CINCINNATI (AP) — Big Joey Jay was unable to keep the Cincinnati Reds' seven-game winning streak going against the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday night.

Joe lasted only 2 1-3 innings before the Dodgers blasted him out of the game for his 11th defeat against 3 victories. Jay broke the 20-victory barrier in both 1961 and 1962.

"He made some good pitches," was all Manager Fred Hutchinson would say after the 5-4 defeat which dropped the Reds into fourth place in the National League pennant race, 1 1/2 games behind San Francisco. The Giants took over the lead by defeating St. Louis. The Dodgers moved ahead of the Reds.

The Dodgers got to Jay in the second inning, scoring one run as Wally Moon walked, took second on an infield out and came home on Doug Camilli's single to center.

Then in the third, with one out, Matur Wille walked and stole second. Jim Gilliam also walked and Willie Davis homered over the right center field fence.

Tommy Davis then singled to right center, Moon beat out a roller along the first base line and Ron Fairly singled. Davis scored and Jay was lifted. Jim Owens took over and ended the rally.

The Dodgers had troubles, too. In each of the last five games they have played, Ron Perranoski has been called to the aid of the starting pitcher—and he did it again in the eighth inning with the bases filled with Reds and no one out. The Reds' rally was cut short at four runs and starter Don Drysdale won his ninth victory in 17 decisions.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Temperatures in Ohio cooled considerably under clear skies Monday night, registering in the 50s and low 60s near dawn today and producing some light fog along the Ohio River in the south-east.

Some early morning temperatures included Columbus 56, Cleveland 58, Marietta 57 and Cincinnati and Zanesville 55.

A stationary high centered over the lower Great Lakes today will again produce bright sunshine in Ohio with afternoon temperatures reaching the upper 80s or 90-degree level.

Little change is expected tonight. It will be fair and quite warm Wednesday as the high centered over the lower lakes begins to ease eastward.

Juvenile Judge Hears Three Traffic Cases

Three juveniles faced traffic violation charges Friday in Pickaway County Juvenile Court with Judge Guy Cline presiding. They were:

Carl E. W. Zehner, 17, of 131 E. Mound St., who was handed a $10 suspended fine and had his operator's license restricted for 30 days for speeding at 45 miles in a 35 mile zone. He was arrested by city police.

James M. Lands, 16, Route 1 Stoutsville, was fined $5 and costs and had his operator's license suspended for 14 days on charges of operating a motor bike without a muffler. He was arrested by the Ohio State Patrol.

Thomas Woods, 15, Route 6, Chillicothe, was turned over to Ross County officials for action after being arrested by city police for driving without an operator's license.

A 14-year-old Williamsport area girl was placed on probation by the court until her eighteenth birthday on a delinquency charge. She had remained away from home for a period of two days without her parents' consent, according to court officials.

Commissioners Study Policy On Welfare

CINCINNATI (AP) — A resolution on welfare is expected to receive its first reading today at the annual meeting of the Ohio County Commissioners Association.

Association officials said welfare programs in many counties were hurt when the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes slashed state matching funds by 10 per cent. They also express hope welfare systems in Ohio will be streamlined.

"Welfare in the state of Ohio is a patchwork that needs to be unified and coordinated," said George Taylor of London, executive secretary of the association.

"The state handles aid for the aged, the counties handle poor relief and the commissioners are in charge of county homes," Taylor said he hoped the General Assembly will act to eliminate some of the duplication from overlapping responsibilities.

The three day convention began Monday. Taylor said that the delegates also will consider a model building code and probably will adopt a resolution criticizing the granting of taxing powers to boards and commissions with non-elected members.

Gray Ladies Unit Needs More Members

Women volunteers are needed for active participation in the Pickaway County Gray Ladies organization, according to Mrs. G. A. Wyllie, head of the local unit.

Twenty-four Pickaway County area women now serve as Gray Ladies, a division of the American Red Cross. More are needed for the volunteer work.

Served by the Gray Lady program are Berger Hospital, the Kearns Nursing Home, Audrey's Nursing Home, Circleville Home and Hospital, Aid for the Aged Department, Blood Bank, Welfare Department, private homes and the VA Hospital at Chillicothe.

Duties of a Gray Lady volunteer include feeding invalid patients, writing and reading letters, visiting with patients, furnishing transportation for the elderly and ill, in addition to other services that help to make the lives of "those less fortunate" more comfortable.

Women interested in becoming a member may contact the Red Cross Offices at Pickaway and Watt Sts., or by calling Mrs. Wyllie at GR 4-2826.

Domer Trial Scheduled In Canton in September

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of Robert K. Domer, 44, prominent investment broker charged in the fire-death of Howard F. Riddle, 55, of Akron, probably will be held in September.

Stark County Common Pleas Court Judge John Rossetti ruled Monday that Domer was sane and capable of standing trial.

Poll Shows District Desires Reduced Tax, Less Spending

Constituents of Ohio's 6th Congressional District have expressed an overwhelming desire for an across the board cut in income taxes, providing there is a comparable reduction in federal spending.

The District's stand on the tax matter was announced today by Congressman William H. Harsha who has completed a public opinion poll on various government issues. The poll was not limited to any special group. Through the mailing of a questionnaire and the cooperation of District newspapers, the opportunity to participate was made available to all interested in expressing their views.

Results showed that 82.6 per cent of those returning questionnaires favored the income tax cut, along with reduced federal spending. Only nine per cent cast a negative

JFK Flunks His History In Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Kennedy flunked an American history Sunday.

The man who can reel off figures in billions about budgets and bombs undoubtedly raised cries of indignation in sun-bathed St. Augustine, Fla., when he told a crowd in Cologne:

"As a citizen of Boston, which takes pride in being the oldest city in the United States—"

The oldest city in the United States is St. Augustine, founded in 1565. Boston was founded in 1630.

Then, at dinner Sunday night, the President goofed again when he stirred the ghosts of the battle of the Little Big Horn.

Speaking of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, he said:

"He covers a long period of history. When he was born in 1876, Bismarck was chancellor of Germany and Ulysses S. Grant was President of the United States, and two years after his birth, to indicate how young the United States is General Custer and 500 of his cavalry were to be wiped out by Sitting Bull and the Sioux Indians, so we are not a very old country."

Custer made his last stand on June 25, 1876, not 1878. The losses were not 500 men but Custer and 276 of his soldiers.

Portsmouth Receiving Hospital Chief Dies

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The superintendent of Portsmouth Receiving Hospital, Dr. Thomas A. McMahon, 55, died Monday of an apparent heart attack. Dr. McMahon was superintendent since the hospital began operating 10 years ago.

Girl Leaves Day Camp, Falls from Bridge, Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Seven hours after 6-year-old Kate Holmes failed to return home from day camp, firemen found her body in seven feet of water in Gates Mills.

She apparently fell into the water and drowned while crossing a bridge on her way home Monday.

Superhighway Building Speed Is Ordered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two contractors have been told to say no later than today why work is lagging on two projects on the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway.

James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission and special expediter for the north-south superhighway, noted the delays at a meeting Monday with Gov. James A. Rhodes and other state officials.

The firms are the Perini Corp., Framingham, Mass., and Peter Kiewit Sons, which has offices in Cleveland. They hold three contracts for projects in Warren County.

Perini was awarded contracts totaling $6.56 million for construction of two segments of highway, one 4 miles in length and the other 5.2 miles long.

The Kiewit firm was awarded a $6.5 million contract for construction of a 6-mile bridge across the Little Miami River. Shocknessy described the bridge as one of the most critical projects on the superhighway.

H. L. Krauser, construction engineer for the Highway Department, said one of the Perini projects is barely under way and added that as of last Friday, the only equipment at the site were two bulldozers. He said the firm's contract shows a time schedule indicating 10 per cent of the job should be completed.

Work on the bridge, he noted, was 3.7 per cent completed, about 7 per cent behind schedule.

Letters were sent to the two contractors demanding an immediate explanation of the lag.

IF YOU KNEW WHAT THIS "CAR KILLER" KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING A SOLID, SILENT SUPER TORQUE FORD

This steel-edged pothole is probably the world's toughest test of a car's suspension. We drive into this car killer at 30 mph, locking our brakes as we go so the wheels can't roll through the hole as they normally would. The car slams against the far edge of the hole with such impact that it literally bounds out.

If you added up the cumulative effect of all the jars and jolts your car's suspension system experiences in years of normal driving, it wouldn't match the impact of one trip through the hole. Yet—a Ford must run this test three times to prove its strength.

How can a Ford take it? Because Ford's front suspension has extra beef in spindles, springs, suspension arms—in fact, it's about 20 pounds heavier than the front suspension of our principal competitor's car.

We don't expect you to abuse your car the way we do our test cars. But, however you drive, you'll welcome the extra strength of a total performance Ford. Ford strength is tested in a thousand ways in Ford's laboratories and proving grounds—and in open competition in the world's toughest rallies and stock car events.

Look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, the World 600 at Charlotte, N.C., and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery: if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.
